Fights Tito for Bride—Norman G. Morin, 20, North Adams sailor, gets off some correspondence, assisted by Lt. Naomi Johnson, before leaving Boston today for France in his fight to bring his Yugoslavian fiancée to this country. The French government refuses to allow the girl to leave without a Yugoslav passport and visa, which Tito's government declines to issue.

In for Probe—Unshaven and sleepy after hours at the controls in flying from the West Coast, Howard Hughes leaves his plane at Washington National Airport early today to attend a second round of the Senate hearings on his wartime airplane contracts. Hughes said he had "new information" to put before the investigating committee.

2 FD, Jones Named Hughes Sponsors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—A former Air Force general testified today that the late President Roosevelt, Jesse H. Jones, and other "powerful friends" of Howard Hughes were interested in a wartime contract for Hughes in 1943.

Bennett E. Meyers, retired major general, gave this testimony before a Senate war investigating subcommittee as he identified a recorded telephone conversation of Oct. 21, 1943, with Robert Lovett, then Assistant Secretary of War and now Undersecretary of State.

Hughes at the time held a contract to build a huge flying boat and was attempting to get a contract to build 100 (F-11) photo reconnaissance planes.

Meyers, then a deputy chief in aircraft procurement, read this telephone conversation into the committee record:

"Lovett: Because this is one of those borderline cases that can be embarrassing if we get into, for example he has got very powerful friends here in Washington.

"Meyers: Yes, sir, Jesse Jones and the President and everyone else seems to be in it."

Jesse Jones was chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. and has figured in previous testimony in connection with the Hughes contracts.

The same telephone conversation Meyers read indicated he had told Lovett that the flying boat contract had been cancelled, but that he, (Meyers) was wrong.

The retired general told Ferguson that Hughes at the time had told him the flying boat contract had been cancelled but this was in error.

Meyers said earlier that in 1943 he felt the huge war plane contract for Hughes "had an odor."

He testified that on Oct. 9, 1943, he told Gen. H. H. Arnold, then head of the Air Forces that:

(1) The Hughes aircraft Co. was not qualified to build photo reconnaissance planes;

(2) The contract for 100 of these planes "might at a later date draw congressional criticism."

Albert J. Browning, a former wartime procurement officer, previously had said that top level officials directed him to sign a $70,744,666 contract with Hughes for the F-11S.

Browning, a former brigadier general and now a vice-president of the Ford Motor Co., said Robert P. Patterson, then undersecretary of war and later head of the department, directed him to sign after he had delayed action from April 28, 1944, to Aug. 1 of that year.

As the inquiry went ahead, Hughes himself was getting some rest at a downtown hotel after an all-night flight from his California home. The plane builder may take the stand later in the day.

A transcript of conversation which Meyers read indicated that Meyers offered to bet Lovett a case of champagne that Hughes would be unable to give the air forces first production in 12 months.

Browning told the subcommittee that Patterson ordered him to sign the Hughes contract "approved by Maj.-Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, deputy assistant chief of staff."

Alberti Blast on Noxon Pardon Plea May Split Parole Board

The State Parole Board may submit split reports to Gov. Bradford on the pardon petition of John F. Noxon, Jr., socially prominent Pittsfield corporation attorney serving a life term for the 1943 electrocution murder of his abnormal infant son.

Tax Slash Action Over To January

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Republican high command apparently abandoned today all plans for tax reduction legislation at the special session of Congress convening Nov. 17.

Chairman Knutson (R.) of Minnesota of the House ways and means committee said after a conference with Speaker Martin, "I rather expect the $4,000,000,000 tax reduction measure to go over until January."

Knutson's committee handles tax legislation and the Minnesota tax has been the leading advocate of tax legislation at the special session.

However, he emphasized to reporters that taxes would be the first matter of business when Congress meets in January for the regular session.

Knutson said the measure, if it becomes law, would make the tax cuts effective as of Jan. 1, 1948.

This was learned today shortly after Dist. Atty. Charles E. Alberti of the Western District flatly opposed the pardon move as "tampering of the most dangerous sort with the established judicial process."

Parole Board Chairman Malthe W. Bullock disclosed that he had completed writing his report on the pardon petition to the Governor. But, he added:

"Whether or not the other two male members of the board will concur with me in my report, I do not know."

Bullock gave no indication as to whether his findings would oppose or favor the pardon. He said he had completed the report in long-hand and that it now would be typewritten. Harold R. Lundgren of Worcester and Frederick J. Bradley, Jr., the other male members of the board, have not yet read his report and he has not conferred with them, Bullock said.

Atty.-Gen. Barnes, who also will send an opinion to the Governor in the case, stated today that his report will not be made until all others have been submitted.

Dist. Atty. Alberti's advisory opinion to the Governor made public for the first time a section of a State Department of Mental Health report on Noxon. Marked "strictly confidential and for professional use only," this report was made by Mrs. Rhoda L. Kolcz, psychiatric social worker at Northampton State Hospital, who investigated the defendant.

The report refers to Noxon's education, personal history, habits, personality, marital history and illnesses. The part of this report quoted by Alberti in his advisory to Gov. Bradford states:

"In his early youth Noxon had shown actual delinquent tendencies. He had personality difficulties which were considered abnormal; had been indiscreet with women; complaints had been brought against him for his treatment of small boys, and he had asked questions about electricity and how it would cause instant death just a short period of time before the child's death occurred."

In opposing the Noxon pardon, the district attorney charged that a pardon "would degrade, debase and debase the administration of justice." In listing his objections, Alberti stated that:

"The jury heard all the evi-

U. S. Sailor Off on Furlough To Fetch Yugoslav Fiancee

Norman G. Morin, 20, North Adams sailor, who discovered that all the world except Marshal Tito loves a lover, was granted an official 30-day leave and the private good wishes of First Naval District authorities today as he departed on the first leg of a journey to bring home his Yugoslav fiancee.

His bride-to-be is Mile Jeanne Bakarcic, until two months ago writer of an anti-Communist column in the newspaper Esprit of Nice, France. She was born in a little town outside Belgrade and went to France to live when she was six years old.

Morin, a recent graduate of the Navy radar school in Boston, met Jeanne in August of 1946 when the destroyer Noa, part of the Mediterranean squadron, put in to the French resort town.

There, Morin said he spotted Jeanne in a newspaper office as the "cutest little girl I had ever seen" and persuaded her to be the first visitor to his ship. The doughty sailor said love scored a direct hit then and there from which he never recovered.

When Morin's destroyer ended its eight-month tour of duty,

Jeanne had promised to come to the United States and marry him. Many letters were exchanged. She quit her job and made preparations to be in New York by Nov. 13 with the wedding to take place the 22nd.

Then the Iron Curtain rattled. It appeared the French government would require a Yugoslav passport and visa, which the Yugoslav consul said he could not provide.

An attaché of the American Consulate in Nice wrote that he doubted very much whether the papers would ever be forthcoming and suggested that Morin come back to Nice, marry the girl, and Tito's lads could go whistle "Dixie" or words to that effect.

Morin is leaving immediately for Washington where he has to obtain the Navy's permission to leave the country, and to arrange for transportation to a government plane to France.

Link Gun to Suspect In Love Lane Killing

A surprise government witness at the lovers' lane murder trial in Middlesex Superior Court testified today that eight hours before a young veteran was shot as he sat with his girl in a parked car in Lowell, March 1,

PROBATION AGAIN—Martha Hansen, 23, Perkins st., Somerville, who was placed on probation several days ago in Ossipee, N. H., for her connection with $10,000 plundering of summer cottages, landed in Boston court today and won probation again. She pleaded guilty of $13.71 check charge before Judge J. T. Zoffoli.

Who Gets Cash For Hat Checking?

All hotels and restaurants should have signs placed at their checkrooms stating plainly whether the hat check girl or a concessionaire receives the tips, the Minimum Wage Commission was told today at a State House hearing.

Kenneth J. Kelley, legislative agent for the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, in urging that the law make such signs mandatory, asserted:

"A lot of gullible people pay for a hat three or four times a year when the girl at the counter gets little in any part of their tips."

Kelley's proposal was made at a hearing in which he charged that it was inhuman to recommend wages of less than 50 cents an hour for non-service employees of hotels and restaurants.

one of the defendants showed him a .22-caliber revolver. The slaying victim, ex-Army Sgt. Mario Grimaldi, 26, Lowell, died of a .22-caliber bullet wound in the chest after he had been beaten and shot before the horrified gaze of his girl friend, Maureen Gilday, 17, also of Lowell.

There had been no evidence that either defendant, Michael F. Coggins, Jr., or Ralph P. Dupont, both 20, had owned a gun until Robert Levy, 19, Bartlett st., Lowell, was called to the stand as a surprise witness by Asst. Dist. Atty. Lyman C. Sprague.

SHOWN GUN IN DINER

Levy identified himself as an employee of a Lowell diner and told Judge Pinanski and the jury Dupont came into the diner about 4:30 p. m., March 1. He said:

"He ordered pork chops and hung up his blue overcoat at one of the booths. As he put up his coat there was a noise and I asked him if he had a pint in his pocket. Dupont said no, then he showed me a .22-caliber blue steel revolver. He opened the gun and took out the shells. They were similar to shells I use in a .22-caliber rifle I have."

"Dupont told me he had another .22-caliber gun with a longer barrel. He ate his meal, paid for it and left."

Under cross-examination by Atty. William R. Scharton, Dupont's counsel, Levy denied he had a grudge against Dupont and had blamed the defendant for his brother being in Concord Reformatory. The State objected to these questions, but the court allowed them when Scharton said he sought to show that the witness was biased.

CHEMIST MADE TESTS

Later, during the testimony of State Police Lt. Gerald McCarthy, Scharton moved for a mistrial charging his client was not getting a fair hearing because McCarthy was allowed to tell of other crimes involving Dupont. Judge Pinanski denied this motion and also refused a defense request to excuse the jury so Scharton could offer proof that McCarthy was biased.

The defense motions were made after McCarthy testified that Dupont explained bloodstains on his fingers with the statement that he had tied up the bleeding finger of a youth hurt in "a safe job" the night before the murder in the lane. McCarthy added that he rounded up these youths and that they are now serving time at Concord Reformatory.

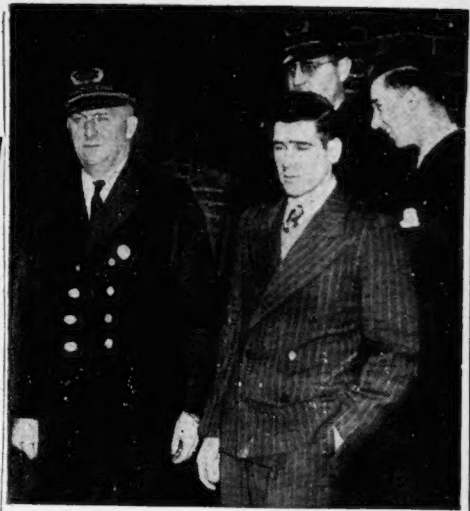

McCarthy's testimony about bloodstains involved a detailed account of scientific evidence gathered by the state which was related from the witness stand by

2D NIGHT OF FOG

Weather Bureau officials warned motorists today that for the second successive night a heavy land fog could be expected to blanket low-lying areas around Boston and New England.

As was the case last night, the fog was expected to appear about midnight and last until well after daybreak, with visibility at a minimum in most low-lying areas.

Mother Assured Veterans' Tribute to War Hero Son

A sorrowing mother was assured that an honor guard of uniformed veterans would be on hand to meet the body of her war hero son on its arrival here late today in the aftermath of a dispute which has embroiled high ranking officers of the State Dept., Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Threats to suspend the charter of the Back Bay Post, VFW, because it stands accused of denying an honor guard for the body on the grounds the bereaved mother was not in good standing on the post's rolls, were voiced.

Com. David Vincent of Suffolk County Council, VFW, in effect took the side of the mother, Mrs. Laura King of Dudley st., Roxbury, whose son, James, 18, a Navy petty officer, died overseas.

He declared: "If I find that the escort was refused because the mother was in arrears on her dues, and did not attend meetings as charged, I will ask that their charter be suspended."

"This is something the VFW will not stand for, and if there is any evidence of guilt my action will be swift."

"If Mrs. King was ever a member of that auxiliary, no matter what the present circumstances are, she is entitled to an escort from that post for her son."

Slate VFW Com. William Hal-

Com. David J. Vincent Senior Vice Com. A. Liberman

lsey said he was amazed on hearing of such charges against the post and that an investigation would be undertaken "to determine the facts." Similar views were expressed by John Powers, department quartermaster.

Hallisey and Powers announced jointly that the honor guard would be provided by the Mahoney Post, No. 457, VFW, and American Legion Post, No. 44, both of Roxbury.

Their action came shortly before the Back Bay Post, No. 318, conducted a night meeting at their headquarters in Massachusetts ave. and announced that the post would furnish the escort.

Senior Vice Com. Abraham Liberman denied the post had ever refused the escort and termed the dispute the result of a "misunderstanding."

Indication that the "misunderstanding" might develop into a VFW state department row, came from Post Auxiliary Sec. Mrs. Pamela S. Elder who had charged she told Mrs. King the honor escort could not be provided because she was instructed to do so by highranks in the organization.

Mrs. Elder, only member of the post who contacted Mrs. King relative to the matter, said last night:

"I refuse to be called a liar. I am going to take this matter to officials of the VFW state department."

Mrs. King said the secretary told her that she should seek the military escort for her son's body from the VFW post in Roxbury, where she resides. Mrs. Elder admitted the conversation, but added she was carrying out orders.

Mrs. King, widowed mother of the Navy hero, said it had been "inconvenient" to meet her dues and explained that having moved out of the Back Bay it also had been inconvenient to attend meetings of the post there.

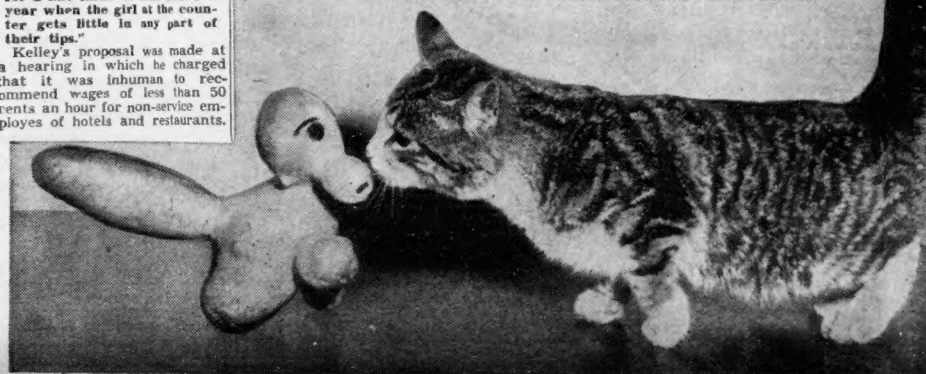

David J. Vincent, Suffolk County Comdr., VFW, announced following last night's meeting that there was no reason why the body should be denied an escort from the Back Bay post. He added that a faulty in dues payments and failure to attend meetings had no bearing on the matter.

Both Hallisey and Powers asserted that nobody in the VFW has authority to demand payment of dues as a condition for obtaining an escort for a deceased returning veteran.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Albin Miklausk, 32, who testified her policeman-husband converted their cellar into the headquarters of his amateur football team, was granted an uncontested divorce today.

Lennon, 21, ex-Boston night club dancer, was given an indeterminate term at Skowhegan, Me., reformatory for her part in stripping eight of 35 rooms at the Camden, Me., summer home of Philadelphia Judge Curtis W. Bok last April.

War Record Fails To Save Ex-Flier

An heroic war record, including 40 missions over Germany as an aerial gunner, was not sufficient to win probation today for Joseph T. Kelley, Jr., 22, of Benton rd., Somerville, who pleaded guilty in municipal court to armed robbery.

Kelley was arrested after holding up James G. Keith, a taxi driver, robbing him of $6 and faking his cab, Sept. 13.

Defense counsel George F. McMahon pleaded with Judge Allan G. Buttrick that Kelley distinguished himself for bravery and had an honorable war record with the Army Air Forces but could not adapt himself to civilian life. Probation officials told the court Kelley had been in trouble previously in Middlesex County.

Judge Buttrick gave him an indeterminate sentence to Concord Reformatory. Kelley will be eligible for parole in 14 months, with good behavior.

Deer-Truck Crash Kills 25 Calves

HOOKSETT, N. H., Nov. 7 (AP)—A wild buck deer brought death to 25 calves and itself today and scattered 130 others in a belowing stampede when it rammed a double-decked cattle truck, which overturned.

Five calves were found dead in the truck and 20 others strewn near it.

The rest of the terrified herd had to be rounded up from woods and fields by Driver Alfred G. Getty, and conservation officers he called for aid.

Plan U. S. Truth Drive to Offset Molotov's Blast

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Stung by the vigor of Russia's propaganda barrage, high government officials were reported today to be considering an intensified American "truth campaign" abroad.

At the same time it was learned the State Department is planning to ask Congress, possibly during the approaching special session, for an additional $1,500,000 for its "Voice of America" and other foreign information programs.

These disclosures came on the heels of Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's declaration that the secret of the atom bomb "has long ceased to exist."

But it was other passages in Molotov's Red Revolution anniversary speech which stirred the greatest resentment among officials here.

Molotov contended anew, for instance, that the United States is trying to ring Russia with air and naval bases, mentioning in this connection the American interest in Greenland, which all the American nations have declared to be a vital link in the Western Hemisphere defense chain.

In general the attacks of Molotov, Deputy Foreign Minister Vishinsky, and the Soviet press and radio seek to prove that the United States is out to start a war against the Soviet Union and that the other countries of the world should line up with the U. S. S. R. in opposition to virtually all phases of American foreign policy.

At the State Department and elsewhere in the American government this line is regarded as a three-way device to (1) rally people inside Russia behind the government; (2) frighten the smaller nation into support of Soviet foreign policy, and (3) obscure the direction and intent of Russia's own activities in such places as eastern Europe.

Massive Parade Marks Soviet Fete

By NATALIA RENE

MOSCOW, Nov. 7 (INS)—The Soviet Union observed the 30th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution today with a massive military-civilian parade in flag-bedecked Red Square and a pledge to follow an "unchanging" policy for world peace and security.

Marshal Nikolai Bulganin launched the rain-soaked military procession with an enunciation of Soviet policy in regard to peace.

But he coupled it with a new attack against "capitalists" and a warning to "war incendiaries."

Bulganin reviewed the parade from Lenin's tomb, where other Soviet notables were gathered, in the absence of Premier Stalin who was last reported at the Black Sea resort of Sochi.

He repeated the charges that have been coming from the Soviet Union recently, declaring:

"The incendiaries of a new war have forgotten the lessons of the recent war. They are calling for a new crusade and making plans for a new imperialist war."

Reds Peace Champions, Declares Vishinsky

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 7 (AP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, said today in a Russian language broadcast over United Nations facilities that "the Soviet Union will continue in the future its struggle against any war propaganda and any instigators of a new war."

"The Soviet Union," Vishinsky said, "is a faithful and consistent champion of peace and security for the peoples of the world, a champion of international co-operation."

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today Britain and the United States had tentatively agreed upon creation of a provisional parliament for western Germany if the Big Four failed to agree on a German peace treaty.

Their report came soon after a British foreign office spokesman denied this country had made any arrangements either for establishing a west German state or for devising any final policy which would be followed in the event of a Big Four treaty deadlock.

The council of foreign ministers is to meet in London Nov. 25.

Grandparents Vie For Orphan Girl, 5

Two sets of grandparents, neither challenging the other's moral fitness, faced each other in probate court, Dedham, today in a custody battle for their 5-year-old granddaughter, Stephany Hope Sachs.

The litigants are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Sachs, Rockwood rd., Norfolk, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Meyer, Stone st., Walpole.

Stephany's mother, Mabel Meyer Sachs, died in giving birth to her. The father, Frederick Sachs, Jr., remarried but was killed in a Wareham auto crash July 17, 1940. The little girl has been living with the elder Sachs since her mother died. Her stepmother, Mrs. Mary Donovan Sachs, 21, also lives there.

The maternal grandfather, Meyer, who is superintendent of the Walpole public works department, testified he and Mrs. Meyer had "a fine home and can give her a good bringing-up."

The case is continuing.

LAKE REVEALS:

Unwanted Roamers From Greater Reich

By AUSTEN LAKE

Boston American Staff Correspondent

HOF, Germany (with the U. S. occupation forces)—This is another sample of our lack of occupation policy and how confusion is being heaped upon confusion between desk-bound officials of the rear and the operational troops of the field. It illustrates what I mean by the military government's rear seldom knowing what its front is doing.

Today I went to Camp Moschendorf, a large, barbed-wire encircled compound of wooden shacks where thousands of unwanted wanderers from all over central Europe are held in a kind of limbo. They are people with no official status, no citizenship, no homes—just human flotsam. They do not come within any of the several categories recognized by the U. S. zone—Displaced Persons or Persecutes.

Mostly they are blood relations of the Teuton race who emigrated to other countries—the so-called Volksdeutsch whom Hitler repatriated into his "Greater Germany" in 1939-45. They were welcomed as blood brothers then. But now the native Germans loathe and detest them as parasites, food scavengers and fungus-growths, expelled by Hungary, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia. "Raus mit!" Get out!

These are the bottom of Europe's barrel, multitudes of all ages and conditions, who have sneaked over the borders with a good-riddance farewell from the Russians—mostly the sick, lame, aged and young, just derelicts and liabilities who come to find a few extra scraps of food and any sort of weather-tight shelter which they hear Americans are happy to give the wayfarer.

So these trickles, streams and rivulets of humanity meet to form a mighty in-pouring torrent within the U. S. zone, already swelled to double its per-war population. In 18 months this tidal flow includes 1,750,000 Sudetens, over a million Hungarians, 800,000 Silesians and around 2,000,000 other assorted lots. Many are being absorbed into the general population; many gladly throw themselves on the bounty of the Americans; and still others hide out, hoping in due course to be adopted.

So MG "policy-makers," at Munich and Frankfurt, order German police to round up the floaters who lack proper credentials. The German police do it with

Ward Asks More State Aid To Meet Teachers' Pay Rise

MRS. GRACE SAFARIAN
Ordered Held in $300 Bail

2 Girls Deny Helping Hide Convict Hayes

Mrs. Lorraine Parron, 18, of Harvard st., Cambridge, pleaded not guilty in East Cambridge superior court today to being an accessory in harboring George E. Hayes, who escaped from State Prison Sept. 19, and was ordered held in $300 bail by Chief Justice John P. Higgins.

Mrs. Parron was taken to the courtroom just after Judge Higgins had ordered bail of $10,000 continued in the case of her husband, John, 20, who had pleaded not guilty to indictments in another case charging breaking and entering in Cambridge and armed robbery in Arlington.

At the same time Cambridge police were checking a stolen auto, found abandoned last night at Portland and Washington sts. there and believed used by Hayes until the time he was captured. The car was stolen in Fall River last Oct. 29 and carried a plate stolen in New Bedford.

Fingerprints found on the car were checked and sent to FBI headquarters in Washington for possible identification. The car was found beside a lot near the Harvard st. apartment where Hayes was captured.

Arraigned with Mrs. Parron was Mrs. Grace Safarian, resident of the same apartment building. It was from a window of this building that Hayes leaped 40 feet early last Saturday in an effort to escape police.

Mrs. Safarian pleaded not guilty to the same accessory charge and, like Mrs. Parron, was ordered held in $300.

Also indicted was Frank Correia, 31, of Elm st., Cambridge who was charged with harboring Hayes after his escape. Correia is now at liberty in $5000 double surety.

EX-SENATOR'S SON HURT

BRITISH SHIP ADRIFT
HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 7 (AP)—The 7800-ton British freighter Empire Wallace radiated today she was adrift 400 miles southeast of Halifax with a broken main motor but in no immediate danger.

Ward's action came after Mayor Hynes had announced plans to make a request for a similar increase in the State's contribution toward the expense of operating the city's school system. Hynes estimated this would amount to about $5,000,000.

"The referendum on equal pay leaves the school committee with no alternative but to request the Legislature to increase their appropriating power in order that money will be available to meet these salary increases," Ward said.

"The failure of opponents of equal pay to acquiesce in the public with the solvency of Boston's financial situation has placed on the Legislature the responsibility of determining the city's solvency. Failure of the Legislature to solve this problem can mean only financial disaster and a complete form of government for Boston."

"In the face of this threat of municipal bankruptcy, I urge the Legislature to provide this money from State funds rather than let this burden be borne by Boston taxpayers."

"If the burden is placed on the taxpayers, real estate operators, particularly apartment house owners, will have a powerful instrument in their fight to lift rent controls. Victory for the real estate interests will mean rent increases for thousands and evictions of families unable to meet rental increases."

Ward pointed out that small home owners would be forced to pay about $5 a month more on tax payments unless State funds were provided. Hynes had stated bluntly yesterday he would not borrow to meet the emergency and that the new costs would have to go on the 1948 tax rate.

The school committee meets Tuesday to discuss the issue but there was some question whether they would favor it until they were sure the cost could be met and that temporary increases voted all teachers last spring would not be jeopardized.

The Legislature authorized the school department to increase its appropriation from $1,800,000 to provide pay boosts of $400, $500 and $600 for teachers from April 1 to Dec. 31, according to their pay brackets.

At the Legislature before next April fails to allow the department to exceed appropriations by $2,300,000 necessary to carry the increases on a permanent basis, the Boston school system will face a real crisis, officials pointed out. Approval of the equal pay measure has only served to complicate the problem which the school committee will attempt to solve next week.

The city's financial emergency was heightened when Mayor Hynes disclosed that 12,000 municipal workers were seeking a 20 per cent raise through their group representatives.

"Unless the State comes to the rescue of cities and towns, giving them the right to institute other means of raising revenue, or aiding them with state funds, there will be a substantial increase in next year's tax rate," Hynes warned.

Jury Awards Shunned Amish Churchman $5000 Damages

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 7 (AP)—A jury of nine men and three women today unanimously agreed that 33-year-old Amish farmer Andrew J. Yoder should receive $5000 in damages from members of the sect who "shunned" him. Yoder had asked $40,000 from four church officials.

The verdict was signed by all 12 members of the jury after deliberation of one hour and 25 minutes.

In his damage suit against the churchmen, Yoder asserted he had suffered ill health, means of making a living was impaired and he was "barred from his rights under the U. S. Constitution" as a result of the sect's action.

The "shunning" resulted, he said, after he purchased an automobile to drive his paralyzed year-old daughter, Lizzie, to doctor in 1942.

Judge Mougey announced he was granting an injunction asked by Yoder, to restrain the churchmen from keeping the "shunning" order in effect.

The judge in charge said:

"This is a very unusual case. Courts very seldom have a case like this."

"The eyes of many people today are upon you, and they are waiting to see what will be done. I caution you to exercise the utmost care and discretion because your verdict in this case will have in the future a great deal to do with our form of government."

SCORES CHURCH STAND

"When one puts his belief into practice and interferes with civil rights of another," he continued, "it is unlawful. No person has the right to interfere with civil rights of another and then claim immunity because of religious practice."

"There is no granted right in these (Amish) articles of faith giving them (church officials) any authority to exercise control over the congregation. It apparently is a matter of conscience."

"The plaintiff had a right to withdraw from the church, to buy an automobile, and he also had the right to associate with his neighbors and to make his living free from any pressure," the judge concluded.

In his summation, plaintiff Atty. George Barnard told the jury:

"You have been given a novel case and you have an important decision to make. You must decide whether progress shall be stopped because a few people go back 315 years and try to invoke on our form of government the curses of an ancient age."

"This country was founded by people who rebelled against the ancient and cruel customs of the old world, and this trial is another stage in this general revolution."

AUTO FOR INVALID

Yoder asserted he was boycotted after transferring his membership from the Helmut District Church to the more liberal Bunker Hill District congregation because he wanted to buy an automobile to transport his invalid daughter for medical treatment. Regulations of the Helmut District Church forbid ownership or operation of an automobile.

The four churchmen—Bishop John W. Helmut, ministers Isaac I. Miller and John J. Nisley and Deacon Samuel D. Wengert—conducted their own defense, as Amish regulations forbid employment of attorneys.

Naked Truth: Bridal Pair Held For Killing Dupe

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7 (AP)—A young couple who told police their robbery plan got out of control, today faced trial on charges of murdering their intended dupe in his hotel room early Monday morning.

The victim was Clifford William Pence, 45, registered from Denver, who died here yesterday.

Mrs. Carol Joy Campbell, 20, said in a signed statement to police she planned to go to Pence's room for a poker game and that her husband was to break in and take the money.

The husband, Marvin Eugene Campbell, 19, said the plan fell through when he couldn't find a baby sitter for their eight-month-old daughter.

Mrs. Campbell said she went to bed with Pence when her husband did not appear, and later struck him on the head with her pistol, intending to knock him out and take his money.

When he jumped at her, she began firing, Mrs. Campbell said. She fled from the room, naked. Police arrested her dressed in a sheet late Monday.

100,000 Owe Poll Tax In Boston

City Collector Daniel J. Donovan, at whose orders constables have sent out notices demanding that 100,000 Boston residents pay their 1946 poll taxes under threat of arrest and jail, announced today that the collection drive for unpaid taxes would be extended back to 1942.

"This is what I have been trying to do for years," said State Tax Comm. Long jubilantly when he learned of Donovan's decision. "This is the first time the city collector has been willing to go along with my recommendations."

Donovan said the city now owed $1,725,000 in unpaid poll taxes for the years 1942 through 1945. Real estate and personal taxes not paid in the same period amounted to $2,667,558, he said. In addition, there were unpaid motor excise taxes amounting to $232,309 for the years 1942-1944.

"All these will be placed in the hands of constables for collection," Donovan said.

The first notices to 100,000 Boston residents began arriving today from 12 constables, demanding payment within five days of unpaid 1946 poll taxes. Included among the 100,000 were many veterans who have failed to petition for abatements exempting them from the tax.

Some of them, attempting to pay the bills at the collectors' office, were referred to the constables, since the matter was now in their hands.

The notices, in envelopes stamped "very important," demand payment of $3.45 under threat of having the person's property seized. If insufficient property is found, the person will be arrested, jailed and charged the fees prescribed by law, the notices say.

Donovan said the action was taken after Comm. Long complained to the Attorney General that Boston was not collecting all its poll taxes.

Mayor Hynes said City Collector Donovan was carrying out his duty as directed by the laws of the Commonwealth.

"But I don't think his duty extends to the point where anyone will be arrested," the mayor added.

The notices from the constables, however, conclude with the phrase:

"Hereof fail not at your peril! This warrant will be enforced."

Protestant Clergymen Report True Tolerance in Yugoslavia

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP)—Seven Protestant clergymen who visited Yugoslavia last summer say they found there "a genuine equality of religion before the law and the beginnings of a true tolerance."

The seven, who toured the country at the invitation of the Yugoslav government, released their findings in a 27-page booklet made public yesterday.

After two and a half years of war, there are "tension points yet to be resolved" in Yugoslavia, "with the possibility of occasional outbreaks of violence," the ministers reported, continuing:

"But the basic patterns seem sound and the door seems open to a religious peace such as the Balkans have never known in the past."

The group said its questioning of religious leaders disclosed the trials of clergymen or monks accused of collaboration with the enemy or with sabotage were "individual cases—they do not in any way represent persecution of religious groups."

Previously, at a press conference in Belgrade following their inspection trip, they had reported informally they found freedom of worship in Yugoslavia. The statement was criticized at that time by some Catholic clergymen, including Acph. Cushing of Boston.

In Washington, the National Catholic Welfare Conference declined immediate comment last night on the formal report.

STEPINAC REPORT

One section of the booklet was devoted to the case of Catholic Archbishop Stepinac, sentenced to 16 years in prison on a charge of collaborating with the Nazis during the war.

The clergymen said Stepinac's conviction was based on nearly a thousand photographs and documents submitted to the court and shown to the reporters present, as well as the testimony of many witnesses.

The report denied as "ludicrous" charges "we have whitewashed the Tito government."

CHICAGO AMUSEMENT TAX

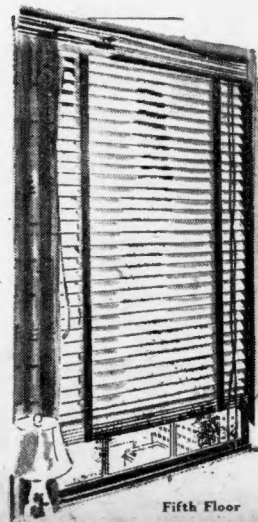

CHICAGO, Nov. 7 (AP)—The Chicago City Council voted to tax all amusement place admissions 3 per cent. An annual license tax of $25 was placed on each automatic amusement machine used in the city. The new revenues are sought to meet rising city governmental costs.

8 First 100 P. C. History Contest Entry Reported

Ss. Peter and Paul High School, South Boston, was the first high school in the city to announce 100 per cent enrollment in the fifth annual Hearst Newspapers National History Awards. It was announced by the History Awards Committee today.

Sister Julie, head of the history department of the South Boston school, informed Rev. Cornelius T. H. Sherlock, supervisor of schools, Boston archdiocese, and member of the History Awards Committee, that the entire membership of the senior class would participate in the annual Hearst classic.

DETAILS OF THE CONTEST

The contest, sponsored locally by the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser, will be held in all Boston public and parochial high schools, Tuesday, Nov. 25. Prizes totaling $1000 in U. S. savings bonds will be awarded local winners, while the national awards amount to nearly $7000. The three top winners in the Hub competition will be eligible to compete in the national contest to be held simultaneously in 13 key cities throughout the nation, Dec. 10. Boston's examination will be held in historic Faneuil Hall.

Full details of the contest have been received by the officials of each public and parochial high school in the city entered in the History Awards Editor.

LARGE ENTRY LIST

Dr. Arthur L. Gould, superintendent of Boston Public Schools and also a member of the History Awards Committee, expects to have all Latin and Day High Schools in the city entered in the competition.

The rules for the contest, as announced by the committee follow:

Twenty questions—Time: 1½ hours.
Essay, not over 250 words—Time: ½ hour.

Questions will be based on American History between the period of 1781 through 1825, including the Constitution.

Number system to be used in order to provide all students participating in the examination an equal chance.

History teachers to examine papers and send not more than three leaders in each school to:

Public schools—Arthur L. Gould, superintendent, 12 Beacon st.

Parochial schools—Rev. Cornelius T. H. Sherlock, diocesan supervisor.

All examination papers must be sent to the above not later than Monday, Dec. 1, 1947.

Questions and Essay Topics MUST be held by teachers until time scheduled for examination, in fairness to all pupils.

'Hens for Harry' Draw Only Mild White House Cackle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Lines of the citizens food committee held fast today against an invading force of "hens for Harry" and "Leghorns for Luckman."

The chickens, in crates of six to 20 birds, rolled into Washington to deliver a literal "squawk" from their growers against the poultry-less-eggless Thursday part of the President's food conservation program.

Food chairman Charles Luckman refused to budge.

While aides here shunted the stream of fowl to the Salvation Army for feeding the needy, Luckman declared in Los Angeles:

"Any time the poultrymen's association or any one else can show us a better way to save grain than by having poultryless Thursdays, we will be glad to adopt it."

At the White House, where three crates arrived addressed to President Truman, the only comment was that the free poultry would wind up on the dinner table at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

One large poultry firm on Maryland's eastern shore entered a dissent from the demonstration in a telegram to Luckman last night.

If anybody in the country has poultry he cannot sell, said the Delmarva Poultry Corp. of Salisbury, "please have them call us collect and we'll arrange to have it picked up within 24 hours."

Two upstate New York farmers—Thomas Albright of Athens and Henry J. Kreher of East Amherst—said they sent chickens to point up the fact that hens which stay on the farm for lack of buyers "will continue to eat precious grain needed in Europe."

Agriculture Sec. Anderson is due for three of their crates, they said, along with four for Mr. Truman and three for the Luckman committee.

The first three crates which reached the White House yesterday were full of white leghorns and barred rocks from Dryden and East Elmhurst, N. Y., and Altoona, Pa. Others arrived at food committee headquarters.

At Utica, N. Y., poultry raiser Monroe Babcock reportedly had called up 25 of his colleagues in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, suggesting that each start chickens to Washington and tell their friends to do the same.

20 Million Investment in 13 Films Planned in Britain

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Sir Alexander Korda, head of London Film Productions, announced today his 1948 production schedule would be topped by 13 major feature pictures budgeted at $20,000,000 and made at the expanded British Lion studios near London.

Korda said:

"In my view there is absolutely no reason for any pessimism about the future of the British film industry. I have, in fact, never felt more optimistic about our future than I feel now."

High on the list of planned films are "The Devil's Delight," which will star Cary Grant, borrowed from Hollywood, and "Cyrano de Bergerac" with Orson Welles as star and director.

Rex Harrison, returned from a sojourn in Hollywood, will have the leading role in a new comedy by Frederick Lonsdale.

Robert Donat will return to the Korda lot in a screen version of Terence Rattigan's play, "The Winslow Boy," transferred to New York after a long run in the West End.

Completed and virtually ready for showing in the United States soon are the color film, "An Ideal Husband," the Oscar Wilde play starring Paulette Goddard and Michael Wilding; "Anna Karenina," directed by Julien Duvivier and starring Vivien Leigh and Sir Ralph Richardson, and "Mine Own Executioner," with Burgess Meredith heading the cast. A later release will be David Niven's "Bonnie Prince Charlie," a spectacular historical picture.

Cambridge Precinct 319-145 for Equal Pay

Cambridge election officials today began tabulating ballots cast on the referendum question of equal pay for school teachers, and with completion of the count in one of the city's 55 precincts, announced that 319 voters favored the referendum as against 145 opposed. A total of 134 ballots were blank.

JAPS' SUCCESSFUL IN MARRIAGE FAIR

TOKYO, Nov. 7 (AP)—Three hundred Japanese women hunting husbands and men seeking wives—paraded the banks of the Tama river looking each other over in a marriage fair sponsored by a marriage magazine, the newspaper Asahi reported today.

Dressed in their best, they came from all parts of Honshu and Kyushu islands. "A considerable number" found mates, Asahi said. Some of the women, the paper noted, "were accompanied by their mothers, which probably didn't help."

The procedure: Register at the entrance to the grounds.

Get a number.

Place number on chest.

Walk up and down the bank, ogling each passerby.

Spot a likely prospect, take down the number, run to the registration tent and get a card file, giving the prospect's life history (bank balance included).

Propose, if desired. This is done through a magazine representative—who gets a commission.

Instalment Curbs Up to Truman

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7 (AP)—If President Truman thinks there is an urgent need to restore installment buying curbs as a check on inflation he can do so immediately without asking congressional action, Chairman Wolcott (R.) of Michigan, member of the House banking committee, declared today.

Regulations requiring a one-third down payment and fixing a 15-month time limit on the balance for purchase of such goods as washing machines, radios and autos expired last Saturday midnight under legislation Congress passed in July.

But an "escape clause" in the repealer bill, along with the trading with the enemy act, permits the President to proclaim an emergency and order down payments of "50, 70 or even 100 per cent," Wolcott told a reporter.

Globe-Girdling U. S. Fliers Plan Hop Home Saturday

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Nov. 7 (AP)—Round the world fliers George Truman and Cliff Evans today decided to take off Saturday on the final laps of their flight back to the United States in their tiny 100-horsepower planes.

ELIGIBLE F. D. CAPTAINS

Fire Comr. Russell S. Codman today received from the Civil Service commission a list qualifying 36 fire lieutenants for promotion to captain. Of this group, 25 will be named to the higher post, which pays $3300 a year.

Queen to Wear Apricot, Gold Costume for Royal Wedding

LONDON, Nov. 7 (AP)—Spokesmen for the Royal family announced today the Queen would wear an apricot and gold lame gown with a pointed train and the Order of the Garter for the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten Nov. 20.

"From a V-shaped waistline bands of brocade are drawn up to each shoulder, where the drapery is gathered and falls over the shoulders in the shape of a semi-circular draped cape," an official description said.

The gown has long tight sleeves and a full length skirt ending in the train.

The Queen will wear a hip-length sable cape, presented by the Hudson Bay Co. Her hat will be of apricot shade with amber-tinted feathers.

$100,000 Chinese Gift to Beth ($1.25)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 7 (AP)—The British-owned Shanghai North China Daily News has received 100,000 Chinese dollars ($1.25 U. S.) from a retired Chinese general in Chungking, as a wedding gift to Princess Elizabeth.

The "humble present," Maj. Gen. Han Teh-Chen wrote, was for a princess who will be "another Queen Victoria."

The letter and gift from the general, who participated in the 1911 revolution which ousted a monarchy from China, were turned over to the British consulate. It implored:

"Strive for peace among allied nations."

City Strikes Tie Paris Garbage, Other Services

PARIS, Nov. 7 (INS)—A series of mushrooming strikes by municipal employees hit Paris today and caused refuse to pile up in the streets, reduced water pressure and raised prospects of suspension or curtailment of burial, laundry and other services.

FARLEY HITS TAFT

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (INS)—James A. Farley, ex-chairman of the Democratic National Committee, thinks Sen. Taft, (R) of Ohio will never reach the White House because he lacks "political sex appeal."

Farley appeared on the premier television broadcast of WNET's "meet the press" program in New York. In reply to a question, he said:

"I think he (Taft) would have to improve a great deal before the American public to be a winning candidate. I think Taft is very intelligent and very honest mentally but he just doesn't seem to have clicked with the American people."

Vice-Presidency Out---Stassen

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (AP) —Harold E. Stassen said he would not accept nomination for Vice President on the Republican ticket in 1948.

Stassen, avowed Republican presidential candidate, made his statement in reply to questions before leaving by plane for Minneapolis.

He first was asked if he would accept nomination as vice president on a slate headed by either Gens. Eisenhower or MacArthur.

"No," he replied, "I am running for the presidential nomination."

Then asked if the vice presidential nomination were definitely unacceptable, Stassen replied in the affirmative.

Switch in Gas 19 Balks Tokyo Hop of B-29's

HONOLULU, Nov. 7 (AP)—Nine mighty planes and 100 chagrined crewmen are returning today to Fort Worth, Texas, unable to make their scheduled hop to Tokyo. The Army aircraft aren't equipped for the type of gasoline available in forward areas.

Who committed the error which cost roughly 100,000 gallons of gasoline—the old kind—in the frustrated flight, is hard to say.

Some half dozen flights of Superfortresses preceded this one on training missions to Japan and everything went fine. However, several months ago the airborne Navy hereabouts began wearing planes from wartime "aromatic" fuel (boosted with benzol) to straight 145-octane gasoline.

The Seventh Airforce, headquartered in Hawaii, did likewise; it draws fuel supplies from Navy tankers.

The conversion was virtually completed several weeks ago, and the staff of Brig.-Gen. Ralph H. Wooten, commanding the Airforce here, insisted word was passed through the usual channels that Pacific way stations were practically out of the old-type, aromatic gas.

Lt.-Col. William F. Savoie, who commanded the flight, insisted contrarily that Eighth Airforce planning officers at Fort Worth knew aromatic fuel was critically short here several weeks ago, but had information that gasoline was available this week for the flight. Savoie explained why his eight B-29's and five C-54 supply plane couldn't continue on to Tokyo on 145-octane gasoline:

War-time 225 caused rubber and plastic connections on the B-29 fuel system to expand, while the new-type gasoline caused contraction. This difference possibly would cause leaks leading to fuel exhaustion or fire.

Savoie said it requires at least 300 man-hours to adjust carburetors and tighten fuel connections on a single superfortress when converting to the new gasoline.

20 Stork Hails Tokyo Rose In January

TOKYO, Nov. 7 (INS)—Iva Ioniuri, the wartime Japanese-American "Tokyo Rose," disclosed today she and her Portuguese husband expect a baby in January.

Since her release from Sugamo prison a year ago, she has been living with her husband, Phil D'Aquino, in a Tokyo suburb.

Officials at the U. S. consulate in Yokohama where Rose applied for an American passport last May, said the child would have a claim to American citizenship. They point out a child may claim citizenship if the parent had residence in the United States for ten years, five of which were after the age of 16. "Tokyo Rose" has these qualifications.

Gets Ride in His Own Stolen Car, Takes Over

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7 (AP)—John Romero, 21, a weary hitchhiker, climbed gratefully into the car which pulled to the side of the road at his signal. Then he looked hard—the upholstery and a rip in the floor covering looked familiar. It was his own car, stolen a week ago.

John grabbed a wrench he found in the back and demanded the driver show his owner's card. The card made out to Romero. So Romero took over the drive to the police station with his prisoner.

2 Killer Suspects Helped Into Court

Two alleged killers, both of whom failed in suicide attempts after the crimes attributed to them, had to be assisted into Middlesex Superior Court today when they pleaded not guilty and were held without bail.

Still weak from their efforts at self-destruction were Russell P. Davis, 23, of Humphrey st., Lowell and Fiore J. D'Antonio of Newton, who were taken from East Cambridge jail to appear before Chief Justice John J. Higgins.

Davis was indicted for the slaying of Edward Pare, 20, of Dracut, last month, while Pare was keeping an automobile-parking tryst with a Lowell woman.

D'Antonio was indicted for the murder of his 15-year-old daughter, Anna, Oct. 18, as well as for assault with intent to murder his daughter, Mary, 17, during a family fracas.

Phillips Andover Drive Launched

A $3,500,000 nationwide fund-raising campaign among 11,000 alumni of Phillips Academy, Andover, was launched from Boston last night at a dinner at Hotel Statler, and at 25 other alumni gatherings from Portland, Me., to Seattle, Wash.

Goals of the campaign are to provide scholarships for one of every four boys enrolled at the academy, increase faculty salaries and pensions, and build a $1,000,000 gymnasium as a memorial to 141 Andover men who died in World War II.

Former War Sec. Henry L. Stimson, a past president of the Andover board of trustees, is honorary chairman of the drive.

Life Pensions of $500 Asked for Paralyzed Vets

Lifetime pensions of $500 a year would be given to the 85 Massachusetts veterans of World War II afflicted with permanent paralysis of both legs under a bill filed at the State House by two Dorchester Representatives, Charles Kaplan and Daniel Rudsten. They declared:

"Memorials, monuments and other forms of public gratitude to our service men have their place, but here is a real opportunity for real assistance to be given our war heroes in the practical form of a lifelong pension."

VFW Urges Military Training As Hope for World Freedom

Special to The Boston Evening American

BALTIMORE, Nov. 7.—America has seriously dissipated its armed strength, and yet it is the one hope of freedom-loving people of the world against dangerous ideologies, Omar B. Ketcham, national legislative officer of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said here.

His plea for immediate adoption of universal training was made at a meeting in the War Memorial Building and followed adoption of a resolution commending William Randolph Hearst and the Baltimore News-Post for supporting the training bill.

The rally was sponsored by the legislative committee of the VFW, headed by Walter W. Hamill. Among the speakers were Mrs. Marie Bauernschmidt, Rep. George A. Fallon of Maryland and Paul C. Wolman, past national commander of the VFW and head of the ROTC at Johns Hopkins University.

A-BOMB NO SECRET

Although the veterans' officials were outspoken in their demand for prompt adoption of universal military training, it was Mrs. Bauernschmidt who delivered the strongest punch.

She declared:

"Any one who thinks we are not in danger now is a plain fool!"

"Only today, we are told by Russians that the secret of the atom bomb no longer is an American monopoly."

"I ask you—did you ever know of a secret where more than two persons knew about it?"

"I cannot see how any woman who gave her son to fight for freedom could be opposed to this bill for universal training, and any one who did not make a blood contribution hasn't any business opposing it."

KETCHAM SPEAKS

Ketcham, in calling for immediate adoption of the legislation, said:

"Opponents of the measure frequently say it would make us militaristic, that we would want to go around looking for a fight.

"The facts are that the only nations in the world who could give us opposition already have universal military training."

"This 'cold war' in which some say we are now engaged could quickly revert to a red-hot, searing war."

Hunt Woman's Rings in Car Murder of 2

BECKLEY, V. Va., Nov. 7 (AP)—Three diamond rings today were sought by police trying to unravel the slaying of a Beckley businessman and the wife of a dentist. State Police Sgt. Anthony Scalise said he had questioned Dr. Kenneth K. Rand, 46, and learned the dentist's pretty blonde wife always wore the three rings.

Investigators did not find the rings when they examined the bodies of Mrs. Nellie Mae Rand, 39, and E. Ray Bailey, 50, after they were spotted Wednesday by passers-by at the foot of a 20-foot embankment along a lonely road.

They had been shot through the head and their bodies apparently rolled down the hill.

Their cars were discovered seven miles away but half a mile apart near the Black Knight Country Club. Scalise said blood on the ground around Mrs. Rand's car led him to the theory they were slain while the cars were parked together at that spot and the bodies driven away in Bailey's machine.

Made Up Her Mind To Live, Succeeded

Twelve years ago her doctor gave her 60 days to live. She is still living today.

In the interim she has regained a lost fortune, established a world-famous gift shop, and designed for the Mardi Gras in New Orleans. She is Leda Plouche, who made up her mind she was going to live—and succeeded.

The inspiring story of this courageous woman will be told in a feature article, "Leda Plouche's Boredom Time," in the Sunday American Weekly, magazine issued with all editions of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

MOSHER RECOVERING HERE

Ira Mosher, former president of the National Ass'n of Manufacturers, was reported "doing fine" today at the New England Baptist Hospital where he has been under treatment for nearly a month.

JUST TEMPORARY

RAPID CITY, S. D., Nov. 7 (AP)—Maj. William I. Wilson, a B-29 pilot at the Army air field here, house-hunted six months. Meanwhile, he and Mrs. Wilson lived in tourist cabins and whatever temporary quarters they could find.

At last they spotted and bought a house. They had their friends in Wednesday night for a housewarming.

Yesterday Wilson was transferred to Spokane.

DIAMOND . . . MERCHANTS

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright 1947 King Feature Syndicate, Inc.

THE MOST IMPORTANT right of an American citizen is to vote in elections; to choose or dismiss public officials. No election is too unimportant for the citizen to perform this duty. It is the fulfillment of the dignity of citizenship. Yet this year I did not register; I did not vote. I feel pretty bad about that.

The principal contenders in New York city were two candidates for a judgeship. All of the other candidates for judicial honors were accepted by all the political parties. Benjamin J. Babin, the Democratic candidate, was endorsed by the Liberal party; J. Edward Lumbard, Jr., the Republican candidate, was endorsed by the American Labor party. I accept it as my personal judgment that the American Labor party, which is controlled by Vito Marcantonio, is the local arm of the Communist Party, and vote accordingly. "The Daily Worker," organ of the Communist party, instructed its regimented followers to vote on the American Labor party line, and that is enough for me. As the only candidate on that line who is being contested was J. Lumbard, the Republican, obviously the Communists were being instructed to vote for a Republican.

NEITHER CANDIDATE represented the best that either party could select for judicial office. I was not stirred to vote for the Democrat whose career was the private choice of Ed Flynn, the Bronx satrap; I could not vote for the Republican who had a Communist endorsement. I did not vote at all. I did not even register. Too often the citizen is presented with just that unfortunate choice. He must accept the lesser of two evils, which is accepting nothing at all.

The Republican candidate was trouncing defeated, which is exactly what he deserved. When the Republicans join the Communists, they deserve to be defeated. When the Democrats join the Communists, they deserve to be defeated. It is a safe guide for any voter to reject a candidate who is accepted by the Reds and the Pinks. As a friend put it, if he is good enough for Marcantonio, he is not good enough for the American voter.

I was sorry that I had not registered because I should have enjoyed voting against that mathematical madness called Proportional Representation, which was overwhelmingly defeated. This is a European importation, foisted on this town by La Guardia and other do-gooders who, back when such madness was popular, hoped to produce honesty in government by astronomy. So they devised P. R. and never has any city been so cursed with a city council that represented nobody and played at circus for its own amusement. Well, that was thrown out without my vote.

The American Labor party and the Liberal party favored the continuance of proportional representation, but in spite of all their combined efforts enough American votes were available to thus confound the effort to throw that importation into the ash can. The Liberals threaten to raise the issue again next year, but it will not matter. Americans prefer representative government to the bloc system which gives every advantage to those who represent no one.

The Republicans deserve their defeat. They cannot blow hot and cold. When as a national party they are fighting Communists, they can only combine with them on local issues and in local elections at their peril. It is hypocrisy to have the Thomas committee at work in Washington and to accept an American Labor Party endorsement in New York. I am told that a few Republican Congressional committees have employed some of the pink-fingered brotherhood as research experts, investigators, etc., on the ground that it takes a thief to catch a thief. The Republican Congressional committees that pursue this policy will, of course, discover that their investigators are members of a union whose object it is to betray and destroy the United States.

The old adage is still sound: "If you play around far, you are liable to get smeared." Neither the Republican nor the Democratic Parties can morally justify these alliances, made to achieve local successes, which strengthen the Reds and give them power and kudos. Whenever they try that gimmick, they deserve to be defeated.

12th Floor Plunge Kills Georgia Ex-Chief Justice

ATLANTA, Nov. 7 (AP)—Charles S. Reid, former chief justice of the Georgia Supreme Court, plunged to death from a 12th floor window of his law offices in the Candler building today.

The body of the 49-year-old attorney was found on the roof of a two-story connection between wings of the building. His watch had stopped at 8 o'clock.

Reid resigned as chief justice of the Georgia Supreme Court on July 28, 1943, to enter the Army.

gusto, herding them into trains and dumping them at Camp Moschendorf, the only "Transient Processing Camp" in the ETO, bossed by a young, realistic ex-captain named Alexander F. Warshall of Butternut, Wis., master of Slavic tongues.

Munich and Frankfurt merely order these people labeled as "deportees," to be returned to place of origin, on the bland assumption that they will be carted from Moschendorf to official crossing points and handed over to the Russians or Czechs, who will promptly sign receipts and deliver them to "place of origin" like parcel post packages.

Ha! Not so simple as that. For many months the Russians and Czechs have positively refused to accept more than a tiny number—a mere token handful. The rest? They say:

"Don't bring 'em here. They're your headache."

Despite international agreements and UN's theorists, the Russians and Czechs make their own frontier rules.

Does MG's Big Brass at Munich and Frankfurt know about this? If it doesn't, the Big Brass hasn't read the newspapers, including the zonal edition of Stars and Stripes. It was all plainly stated in basic English. Yet the German police continue to set their dragnets enthusiastically for their Volksdeutsch ex-"blood brothers," so the latter won't eat up Bavaria's winter food supply, and they ship them to Camp Moschendorf, where I saw them today, lounging against the wooden shacks, staring into vacancy, seldom moving, eating thinly of minimum rations and waiting—for what?

URNS THEM LOOSE

So Warshall does the only thing he can, an expedient commonly practiced by all U. S. liaison officers who deal with illegal border hoppers. He has his German police escort them in batches of 20 or so to some remote, unguarded spot on the Russian or Czech line and turn 'em loose with an order to "keep walking and don't come back."

Does the MG in Munich know about this? If not, it isn't paying attention to Warshall's many reports of Russia's blanket re-entry refusal or his choked camp conditions. Nor have Munich's MG gold-braiders visited Camp Moschendorf to see for themselves.

But in some mysterious fashion, sudden awareness that these unwanted deportees are being shooed over the borders without paper formality has dawned on MG-Rear. So it sent up CIC agents today to "investigate" Capt. Warshall and file instant report on such topics as, "How are these people being returned to 'point of origin'?" What channels are employed? What agents enforce the deportation? By whose authority?"

What woke MG-Rear from its slumber lately was a "hunger parade" staged by several hundred Moschendorfers and featured in several English language dailies. So MG-Rear, sensitive to such publicity, began to take interest in Moschendorf and wonder how it happened that anybody stayed there long enough to get hungry. What was delaying these people from going back to "the points of origin?"

I visited the camp's main kitchen where the usual 60 gallon soup vats and spacious Wehrmachl ovens are installed. As daily provender it wasn't rich in carbohydrates or likely to add any layers of fat to the deportees' hips.

Here's the daily menu:

Breakfast—black bread (three thick slices), two grams of ersatz coffee (mostly browned barley).

Dinner—One liter of thick noodle soup with vegetables, a few tiny spicules of meat and three slices of bread. I asked for a dish of the soup and found it reasonably good. (If you are hungry.) Supper—Bread (three slices), sausage, one-half small slice; butter, one-half thin pat; coffee (Nagh!). It isn't a sustaining diet for adult people, but then MG-Rear doesn't provide anything better for people

It assumes are quick transients in and out! Hence the "hunger parade."

Meanwhile all over the American zone, German police still comb the towns and cities for border hoppers. In 1941 last week the CIC flushed up 800 such folk, living by devious means like selling their few belongings for black market food or buying counterfeit food stamps from the DP racketeers.

There were uncounted thousands of other border jumpers in town, but the reason the raid fizzled at 800 was because the town authorities didn't have enough transportation to handle a larger crowd. So other thousands of hide-aways escaped to continue existing like fleas in a dog's fur.

Such is the story of Moschendorf Camp and its indigestible group of homeless, unwanted humanity. It is also the tale of MG's lack of policy and the feckless way it is dealing with its deportees, who usually refuse to remain deported in any case, but presently snap right back across the border again, at the risk of arrest, or to become our permanent wards. What can they lose?

Minnesota, Iowa Get Driving Snow

A driving snow storm swirled over most of Minnesota and piled up drifts in northwestern Iowa today as the first cold snap of the season chilled parts of the western half of the country.

The first major storm of the season found winds up to 40 miles an hour whipping the snow over the countryside, grounding airplanes, slowing motor traffic, forcing some country schools to close, and interrupting telephone and telegraph communication. The biting wind reduced visibility to nearly zero in the twin cities, where by noon a four-inch snow blanket had covered the ground.

The fury in the north had its counterpart in the extreme south last night when a tornado swept through the small village of Galiano, La., killing two persons and injuring ten others.

B. & M. Train Dispatcher Retires After 50 Years

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 7—Completing more than 50 years of railroading, Herman R. Dye, senior train dispatcher in point of service for the Boston & Maine Railroad, retired today.

A native of Saugus, Mass., he entered the employ of the B. & M. in May, 1897, at the age of 17. He had been dispatcher on the New Hampshire division since 1914.

Ringling Heir Dad of Unwed Mother's Child

CLEVELAND, Nov. 7 (INS)—Stuart Lancaster, 27, heir of one of the famous Ringling Brothers, admitted today in juvenile court he is the father of a 14-months-old son of Miss Nancy Fleener, 23, whom he first met in Honolulu in 1945.

Miss Fleener, now living with her mother in Cleveland, testified she met Lancaster when he was stationed in Hawaii as a Navy flier.

"He phoned my parents' home to Honolulu and asked for me although I had never met or heard of him before," the willowy blonde told Judge William J. McDermott.

Miss Fleener said Lancaster told her of his unhappy marriage to Martha Ann Lancaster, now living in St. Petersburg, Fla. They fell in love, Miss Fleener said, and lived as man and wife from Sept. 20, 1945 until April 1947.

She said Lancaster refused to marry her even after he had obtained a divorce. Miss Fleener said her baby was born Aug. 20, 1946, and said Lancaster's wife bore a daughter about seven weeks later.

Lancaster told Judge McDermott he receives $85 a month in GI subsistence as a student apprentice at The Playhouse, Cleveland amateur theater. He said he pays $130 a month for alimony and support of his former wife and daughter.

Judge McDermott ordered Lancaster to pay support payments of $75 a month to Miss Fleener.

2 Chattanooga Papers Raise Price

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 7 (AP)—The Chattanooga Times and the Chattanooga News-Free Press today announced a daily circulation price increase of 5 cents a week—from 25 to 30 cents for subscribers of each paper.

In addition, the weekly rate for daily issues of one paper and the Sunday Times was increased from 35 to 40 cents. The price change is effective Nov. 9.

The single copy price of the Sunday Times remains at 15 cents.

The News-Free Press said: "The change in price is made necessary chiefly by unusual and large increases in the cost of labor."

The Times said: "Substantial increases in the cost of publishing make this change in our subscription price necessary."

Appeals Jail Term In Vote Fraud

Judge J. L. Barron in municipal court today, acting under a law passed by the 1946 Legislature, imposed the maximum sentence of one year in jail on Dwight L. Noble, 43, of Lamont St., Roxbury, accused of attempting to vote illegally in the name of a South End man.

"The Legislature found a way to stop these dupes from going in and voting illegally," she said. "That was by sending them to jail. I'm going to impose the maximum in this case since the law makes it mandatory for me to impose a jail sentence."

Noble, arrested when he attempted to vote in the name of William F. Connors, 63, of Rutland St., South End, appealed.

The degree of want that has been reached in Germany is well illustrated in this photo showing hungry Germans—at a U. S. Army dump—diving into garbage barrels. Army trucks are awaited here daily and their contents combed over feverishly.

FIRST THINGS FIRST

BY CALLING a special session of Congress, President Truman has made it possible for the Administration to repair without delay the dangers and the damage resulting from two of its worst blunders. It was a blunder not to institute Universal Military Training in conjunction with the unification of the armed forces that was accomplished.

This omission has put our national defenses in an unfortunate state at a time of international crisis.

Even on a peacetime basis, the Army, the Navy, the Air Force, the National Guard and the organized reserves are below their authorized strength; and these branches are ill unable to meet ordinary replacements through voluntary enlistments.

Not only should every branch be fully maintained in the minimum regular service, ready for any eventuality; more than that, THE ELIGIBLE MANPOWER OF THE NATION SHOULD BE PREPARED FOR INSTANT MOBILIZATION.

Our failure to provide such a citizens' reserve after World War I was a major cause of our embroilment in World War II.

The unified command system cannot mean much for either our national security or our national pride unless it has adequate forces to command.

These forces cannot be made adequate without Universal Military Training.

Universal Military Training should and MUST COME FIRST on the agenda of the special session.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S other blunder was its refusal to permit a reduction of constricting and confiscatory taxation.

This blunder was committed when President Truman vetoed a sound tax bill passed by Congress in the full knowledge that the Treasury would accumulate a surplus in the coming fiscal year.

As a consequence, the industry, agriculture and commerce of the country have been contending with the difficulties of PEACETIME reconversion and replenishment under the crippling burden of WARTIME taxation.

It is a fact that these WAR TAXES have been keeping wheat off the domestic market because of the income surtaxes imposed on prosperous farmers, and that this form of artificial scarcity amidst enormous plenty has aggravated the evils of inflation and high prices.

It is a fact that increased industrial investment and expansion of production have been retarded and almost stymied by destructive and repressive taxes.

Here we have another phase of price inflation in the market place, due to curtailed production of non-agricultural goods.

Tax reduction must therefore be made THE SECOND ITEM FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION on the Congressional calendar.

AMERICAN PROBLEMS of inflation and high prices cannot be solved on any basis of conditions in Socialistic Europe.

On the other hand, the plight of Europe may be made worse by impairing our own economic effectiveness.

The Marshall Plan contemplates vast gifts out of the production of American free enterprise and is plainly incompatible with hampering bureaucracy and rapacious taxation which retard production.

It should not be made an excuse for Socialism in America.

The Marshall Plan ostensibly seeks to check Communism abroad by indirect means.

It is bound to fail if we display to the world a determined posture of military weakness.

Our foreign policy can succeed only if we have the constant capacity to make it respected.

Former President Roosevelt used to say, "Put first things first."

Exactly that is what Congress should do when it convenes on November 17.

Congress should first of all enact Universal Military Training and drastically reduce federal taxes.

On the Side

By E. V. Durling

Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc. That 'tis well to be off with the old love

Before one is on with the new. Has somehow passed into a proverb.

But I never found it true. No love can be quite like the old love

What'er may be said for the new

And if you dismiss me, my darling.

You may come to this thinking too

—CHARLES HENRY WEBB.

IT WAS OCTOBER in November in Manhattan today. When I sprang out of bed at 9:30 this morning and inhaled a whiff of the wine-like air I dressed and breakfasted hurriedly, grabbed my trusty walking stick and was off for a 10-mile jaunt through the park. Following this, I pulled up, breathing easily, still full of walk. I am at the peak of walking form. I may challenge "Bugs" Baer to an around-the-reservoir walking match. Of course, you know, that is tough competition. Mr. Baer was the around-the-reservoir walking champion in 1928, when he defeated the title-holder, George M. Cohan, by a length and a half in record-breaking time.

PASSING BY: Vivian Blaine. The natural blonde who became a cherry blonde for art's sake.

Vivian is a weary of being a musical comedy star. She wants to be a dramatic actress. Well, that's all right with me as long as she doesn't try to play Joan of Arc.

Cary Grant, nee Archibald Alexander Leach. Made his New York stage debut with a troupe of acrobats at the old Hippodrome. One of his first straight parts on the stage was with Mae West in "Diamond Lil." Cary played the man to whom Miss West voiced the immortal line: "Why don't you come up and see me some time?"

SHORTHAND: Who does your stenographer say invented shorthand? If she doesn't know, don't be too hard on her. I went to three prep schools and three colleges and I don't know either. And what makes it worse is one of the prep schools was good old Commercial High in Brooklyn where I studied shorthand, the Isaac Pitman system. Anyway, one Thomas Skelton invented a system of shorthand in 1620 A. D. This was the system Samuel Pepys used in writing his immortal diary. Pepys began his diary when 26 and stopped it when 35. Samuel concealed little about his life, public or private. As for example he revealed that in a domestic argument he gave his wife a black eye. Did that cause Mrs. Pepys to burst into tears? Not at all. She sprang at her husband and bit him.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q.—In what poem of Kipling's did he make the statement as to the colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady being "sisters under the skin." A.—Title of poem in question is "The Ladies." Q.—Take females between the ages of 21 and 25, which on the average are better looking, the single girls or the married ones? A.—My vote is for the married ones. It is an opinion not without support. Nearly always when married and single women of that age group meet in beauty contests the married ladies win the most prizes.

WEDDING PRESENT: As a wedding present a New York scarf manufacturer sent Princess Elizabeth a scarf designed to feature "The Great Lovers of History." Standing out prominently in said design were pictures of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. Now the scarf designer is wondering if his present will be returned.

HORSES AND WOMEN: "Imagine, $15 for a minimizer. They were $80 at first." That's what I heard my wife saying over the telephone to a friend. Later I said to her: "Pardon my ignorance, but what is a minimizer?" She said: "It is something women use to minimize bulges. Takes two inches off the waist." Seems a thing like that should be worth $85. Anyway, I will put the information down as something new I learned today.

BRICKLAYERS: S. V. Elliott, British construction expert, claims to have originated a method by which two bricklayers can lay 4689 bricks in an eight and a half hour day. An interesting angle is that Mr. Elliott says by his method unskilled labor can lay bricks. No bricklaying experience is necessary.

MULES & MEN: Eleanor Early, the well-known Mules & Men expert, quotes Actress Doris Wilson as saying: "The boys beautiful boys adore attention. They are always conscious of their looks. They are too fond of themselves to make good husbands. To a sophisticated woman as they are boring." This brings to mind what Bobbie Arnst said in explanation of the domestic difficulties which led to her divorce from Johnny Weissmuller. Said Bobbie briefly: "Johnny's boy went to his head."

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Come, let us "go Hollywood" in our nation's capital. Put yourself in my lucky place, if you can, on the same floor with the whole shiplod of some of the most glamorous celebrities of the dream world of make-believe, such as gorgeous June Havoc, who is a certain party's nomination for Miss Constitution of the U. S. A. for 1947.

Heh-heh-heh. I foxed them. When I said she was a certain party's nomination I bet they thought I was going to say a political party. But I am too clever. Maybe I am "that certain party" myself.

But I must change the subject away from Miss June Havoc or people will say we're in love and politics makes strange metaphors, so let us talk about glamorous, comical Danny Kaye, the comedian.

DANNY KAYE is a fighter in the commandos of the home front against intolerance. He did not give exactly his all for freedom of speech during the war. He was waiting until the checks were down right here in freedom's citadel when "our brave boys" had stacked arms and the skulking forces of disunity would try to poison neighbor against neighbor.

That is how he happened to fly down here with the Hollywood shock troops for freedom to fight the Thomas committee on un-American Activities to the dying ditch. He and Humphrey Bogart and the glamorous beauties.

DANNY KAYE was born David Daniel Kamsinsky in Brooklyn. During the war he did a movie called "The Kid From Brooklyn" while 330,000 other kids from Brooklyn were in the war one way and another.

His draft board kept on marking him 1-A by a vote of 4 to 0 and his appeal board marked him 1-A, also by 4 to 0, but after he had spent three days at Fort Jay, kind of long for a physical and mental, in December, 1943, the doctors scored him 4-F.

The U. S. O. put in for him to go out as an entertainer, but the local board said: "Nops. With us he is still 1-A." The appeal board said: "Same here."

Then one night an unusual thing happened. The appeal board had just voted 1-A, by 4 to 0, when a messenger came with an urgent letter from the local, wanting his folder right back without waiting for the mail. The appeal had been withdrawn from Washington. No action was to be taken by the appeal board. So the appeal board drew a line right across the whole entry, killing the refusal out of the record.

The parts of the local. That was the last that was heard of Danny Kaye around those parts.

GENERAL McDERMOTT, the State draft director, says Danny showed the right spirit about the camp shows. The U. S. A. reported that seven entertainers had been killed in one area where his bookings were to take him.

Nevertheless, Local 229 insisted that if he went at all he must go in a soldier suit like the rest of the kids from Brooklyn. And they wrote that "the best interests of the country would not be served by this registrant being permitted to entertain members of the armed forces."

"Neither his physical nor his mental condition or attitude tends to show that the morale of the armed forces would be benefited by his performance before them as a civilian," they said.

GENERAL McDERMOTT SAYS some very important Hollywood interests were putting in for Danny to work in comical make-believe to lift the spirits of those 330,000 kids from Brooklyn and their anxious, loved ones at home.

But don't think the clown laughs all the time. He has a lot of Hamlet in him, too. And so we find Danny fighting for freedom even against the Congress which actually personifies the American people and on the side of a lot of glamorous Hollywood figures.

NOW COME BEHIND the scenes with me, Cinderella, ere the clock strikes 12 and our adventure in the realm of glamour comes to an end.

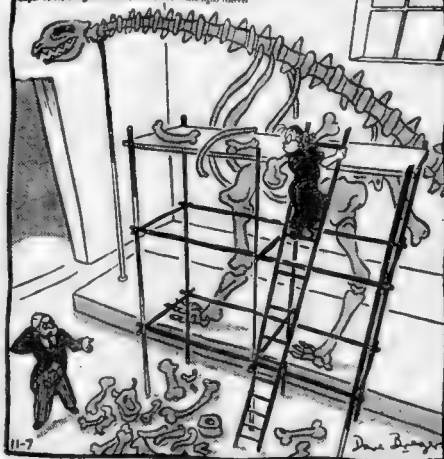

The waiter enters my room and we ask it is true that these rich Hollywood celebrities tip higher than a cat's back?

He scowls and then he says: "Today there was an order for $12 worth of drinks. Bogart, signed. He turned his back to sign. For the waiter, 50 cents. Don't forget, we have to share tips with the busboys. It isn't so much that they are really rude to you. They act as though there was nobody there but them. They make you feel like you don't exist."

If I don't care who you tell. Them is my sentiments.

The lower classes, you see? Getting out of hand, really.

Tragic

A few minutes before this photo was made, Judith Hilgendorf, 2, was happily snuggling her doll in the auto her mother was driving in Milwaukee. A skid and crash followed. The car had hit a truck loaded with sand. Later, firemen dug frantically into the sand and removed Judy's body. The doll had remained on top.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7 (INS)—Only a star as sure of his fans as Burt Lancaster would jump at the chance to play the murder-minded husband in "Sorry, Wrong Number." Burt not only jumped, he's set to co-star with Barbara Stanwyck when Hal

Barbara Stanwyck stars in the picture in January for Paramount.

Yes, Barbara is definite for the woman, a part previously rumored for Jennifer Jones or Claudette Colbert.

If you don't already know, this is the screen adaptation of Lucille Fletcher's radio thriller about a woman hearing her own murder planned over the telephone.

Burt and Barbara are old hands at playing these psychological thrillers without damaging their box office appeal. One of Barbara's best was "Double Indemnity," and Burt has had a whole string of disagreeable screen guests. Anatole Litvak co-produces and directs.

HOW DO YOU LIKE this cast? Joe Pasternak has lined up for "A Date With Judy"—Wallace Beery, Carmen Miranda, Elizabeth Taylor and Jane Powell? Only my friend, Joe, who has a talent for mixing "em, would come up with a script based on the popular air serial, combining these assorted talents.

I get a kick out of the idea of the rough and ready Beery playing Father Foster, giving out teenage romance advice to Jane Powell and Elizabeth Taylor. What's he trying to do—steal Judge Hardy's stuff with Andy? What Chi-Chi Carmen Miranda is doing in there, I wouldn't be knowing—but we'll see.

ROBERT MONTGOMERY gets applause every time his picture "Ride the Pink Horse" is shown on the screen. That's because he was a popular witness at the Washington investigation of the Un-American Activities committee.

Bob was down at the train when I arrived in New York, not because he couldn't wait to see me, but to meet Betty, his wife, who sails with him Nov. 12 for the command performance in London.

I'm awfully glad Bob has decided to make a sophisticated, gay comedy. His next picture,

"Come Meet My Love," is the slick, smooth sort of thing he does best.

SIX MONTHS ago, when the British tax against American films came on, you heard from all sides that the independent producers were in for lean days. Still, I haven't heard of any of them dropping by the wayside, and new companies are coming on.

The latest is Frank Seltzer Productions: Along with Hugh King, he's closed a deal to make six independents, releasing through 20th Century-Fox. The first is "Let's Live Again," starring John Emery, Hilary Brooke and Taylor Holmes.

Seltzer and King must feel they are on sure ground, for they were offered $45,000 for the story by Herman Wohl and John Vlahas and turned it down.

MADELINE CARROLL, slimmer than she's been in years and still beautiful, has signed a new contract with Paramount. She'll make one picture a year for her old studio.

Madeline will confer in 10 days with Henry Ginsberg about her next picture, and her husband, Henri Lavoire, a French war hero who is very handsome, goes with her to Hollywood.

Madeline has been off the screen for so long she'll have to get acquainted with some of the boys and girls who weren't going to the movies when she made pictures five years ago. She wants to get American distribution for the documentary shorts she and her husband made in France. One of the films is about the children she worked with in Paris after the liberation.

A PERSON not yet born determined the starting date of Lester Cowan's "One Touch of Venus" on the U-I lot. The out-of-this-world little stranger is Dinah Shore's baby. Dinah is not playing the star part, but she has been signed for the secretary who sings all the singing—a built-up part that wasn't in the original show, as I remember.

More news about this is that Cowan is hot after Victor Mature to play the department store boss if he can arrange the deal with 20th. It's something like the role Vic played on the stage in "Lady in the Dark."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD AND NEW YORK collected at random: George Sanders all over New York with Zsa-Zsa Hilton. I thought that romance was over—but apparently the spark still lingers.

Saw Babe Ruth being escorted by two friends. He's still very sick and looks was and weak—but he continues working night and day for some youth movement. What a splendid example the Bambino sets for boys!

It was a dramatic and shocking moment at the opening of the John Leder-Love Lockhart Play, "For Love or Money," when Nathan Straus, department store tycoon and father of Bernard Straus, the producer, collapsed just before the first act curtain. Henry Morgenthau, who was in the audience, took the stricken man home.

There are almost as many stars in New York now as there are in Hollywood. At El Morocco, all in one evening, were Olivia De Havilland, Lana Turner, Joan Crawford, Greer Garson, the Sam Goldwyns, Charlie Feldman, John Leder and many others. It was old home week with everyone dashing from table to table.

Jan Stuart, the British actress, will be in Florida when the Earl of Carnarvon arrives there Jan. 7.

I hear it's Irene Hervey to play the wife role with Bill Powell in "Mr. Peabody and the Mermaid."

Irene Hervey Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel. They'll be Louis B. Mayer's guests at this benefit for St. John's Hospital.

Well, what do you know? Maxie Rosenbloom and his wife, Muriel, who were at it hammer and tongs at one time, were dining at the Fox and Hounds, all smiles.

Mary Phillips is going to Honolulu to be with Mrs. John Halliday, who is grief-stricken over the death of her husband.

Rudy Friml, Jr., wires me that his suit against the City of Los Angeles has not been dropped—just postponed when his attorney had to leave for France.

Yvonne de Carlo and Tony Martin the newest woosome at the Beverly Tropics.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

BOSTON RACETRACK FOLLOWER INFORMS US

that relatives of Gordon L. Conway, the Providence policeman charged with conspiracy in a series of sensational robberies, bet everything they could raise on Flange in the eighth race at Lincoln Downs, Tuesday, to get funds to defray the cost of his second trial.

The accused officer's mother is said to have mortgaged her home to join in the gamble. . . . Flange, picked by Dave Wilson as the best bet that day at the Rhode Island track, won by three lengths, paid $3.30, $4 and $3. . . . Charlie Kurtzman, northeast division manager of Loew's theaters, must be the ideal husband. Over the years he has given his wife, Mickey, several loving-cups for her cooking. One is inscribed, "Best roast beef, despite rationing."

Another, "Best interior decorator in the State of Massachusetts."

A LANDLORD-TENANT row has had a very unfortunate ending. . . . The owner of a house in one of the residential sections put in new window shades for his tenant. But he wanted the tenant to pay for them. . . . It was a matter of only a few dollars, but the tenant wouldn't pay, and the landlord wouldn't let him have the shades without payment. . . . So after a few weeks, the landlord went to remove the shades. . . . Standing on a step-ladder, he lost his footing, fell and cracked his spine. . . . When word of his mishap came to his wife, she suffered a shock. . . . Recently the wife died. The husband is a cripple for life.

DINED WITH Garwood Van's bride (among others) a few nights ago. She is one of the more beautiful Detroiters. She and Gar take long walks, viewing Boston's historic scenes, after 1 a.m., when he wrings the last beautiful note out of his Terrace Room orchestra. . . . Folks write to me that we were mistaken in saying Herb Lewis was in the Melody Lounge at Coconut Grove the night of the fire, because his engagement ended a week earlier. But Herb was there that night, visiting . . . Larry Green of The Meadows, now at the RKO, is going to be mugged in technicolor next week for a cigarette. . . . Johnny Pesky, Red Sox shortstop, spent an evening this week at the Music Box and oozed enthusiasm about his new boss, Joe McCarthy. . . . Tom Dorgan LaRue Brown (Harvard classmate of the late President Roosevelt), Rep. William Fitzsimons and Rep. Gordon Boynton made a recording yesterday, debating the inviolability of Communist activities. It will be aired at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

THAT MOVEMENT to abolish the New England branch office of the Veterans Administration (except for insurance, death claims and dependents' services) originated in the office of Gen. William J. Blake, Massachusetts member of the Veterans Administration. . . . Congresswoman Edith Rogers and Cong. John W. McCormack attended the meeting, along with Gen. Blake, his department heads, and the Massachusetts commanders and adjutants of the American Legion, VFW, Disabled American Veterans, Jewish War Veterans, Marine Corps League and Amvets. . . . At the same meeting, the veterans' organizations for the first time established a united front to fight for better service for veterans. . . . On Monday at 10 a. m. at the Parker House, this united front meets with Bay State members of Congress. . . . A Congressional investigation of the New England branch will be one of the things discussed. But the primary aims are to slash branch red-tape, abolish the jobs of overpaid branch executives, transfer branch rank-and-file to the Massachusetts office.

THE GIGANTIC Quonset hut that you can see from Elevated trains passing over Charlestown bridge is an extension of the Lobster House, but only for wholesale business. . . . Annette Hendrey, cashier at the Logan Airport coffee shop, reports that Lana Turner refused to give her an autograph. Lana explained, "It might cause a stampede." . . . We told the other day about the gambler who was cut in for a half-interest in a Boston drugstore in payment of a gambling debt. Well, now the internal revenue bureau is checking to see if he reported his acquisition as income. . . . Annet that increase from $300 to $1000 for lawyers appointed by the courts to defend accused murderers, can also announce that the superior court judges have upheld the pay of masters auditors from $5 to $7 an hour. . . . The N. A. tried to get the Legislature to authorize $12 an hour.

RAY BOLGER, a great Boston favorite, will be dancing here before the month is out. . . . Ginny Simms, who gets plenty, could have got twice as much in a Boston nightspot with half the class of the Oval Room. We think John Greenleaf's talent booking ace, used good judgment. . . . Greenhut is the man who got Jane Russell $13,000 for a week at the Miami Beach Latin Quarter, owned by Boston's E. M. Loew. That's his high score. But he's not claiming any honors for Jane. Hildegard, he says, is the greatest. . . . Premier Angus MacDonald wants John Duffy of Everett's Shirley Club to visit Nova Scotia and sing his Irish songs.

JOHN GARFIELD is coming to Boston in person next Thursday for the opening of his latest film, "Body and Soul." . . . Patrolman Joe Carter, who stands guard outside the mayor's office, says the radar range in Thompson's Spa, which cooks so fast, doesn't do it with heat. Joe says the radar splits the molecules in the food. A smart policeman. . . . So you think there's no sentiment in politics? When ex-Gov. Tobin, his family and friends visited the State House for the unveiling of his portrait, Gov. Bradford (who licked Tobin at the polls) removed all his personal knickknacks and pictures from his desk, and discreetly withdrew, to leave the Tobins along with their memories. And hopes?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—My old guide and spiritual mentor, Col. William H. Johnson of the Tucson (Ariz.) Daily Citizen, advises me that his community is slowly recovering from a visit of the S. S. S.—Saddle-Sore Solon.

The old colonel, with a sigh in his voice, reports that Sen. Glen Taylor, of Idaho, has ridden off into the sunrise, leaving Tucson to accept or reject his warning that we had better be pals with the Russians.

I am afraid the old colonel, beneath his austere publisher's mien, may have a streak of levity in his make-up, because he sat down and knocked off the following editorial Annet the Cuckoo Caballero:

"The United States has produced some strange horsemen during its historical past. Their valor has been proclaimed in song and story. They run all the way from Paul Revere to Sen. Glen Taylor of Idaho, latest recruit to their ranks."

"Sen. Taylor is a troubadour first, a statesman last. Equipped with noisome vocal chords, he and Sen. Pepper of Florida have made themselves heard in the United States Senate but have not earned it respect.

"The good Senator is traveling simply and en famille. No grooms accompany him. His outrider is Mrs. Taylor. She figuratively scatters flowers before her beloved from a lovely American automobile, vintage not given. In a trailer following, the Senator's reserves steeds ride majestically along. There is no covered wagon, just the trusty old banjo on his knee."

It is reported now that the Senator, contrary to earlier advice, will be in Phoenix and make a stop in Tucson.

"Phoenix, it seems, gets all the breaks."

THE HORSE-HAPPY HOMBRE—or, if you insist on the pure Castilian pronunciation, the orse-appy ombre—dismounted in Tucson long enough to tell a group that the "Golden Rule" was the best way to get along with Russia.

Incidentally, I hear that Sen. Taylor has been graciously accepting gratuities for some of his equine appearances. After all, oats cost money, and if people are nuts enough to pay dough to hear him expound his doctrines, with banjo accompaniment, why not tap the suckers?

The banjo bustin'—I mean bronco bustin'—Senator may know one end of a horse from another on days when visibility is unlimited, but I have a suspicion he is a bit vague about the golden rule.

It has many versions, but the one most generally accepted is: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

If that's what Stalin is doing, what's holding us back?

I AM INDEBTED to the War Assets Administration for the information that there is an institution of learning in Deland, Fla., called the John B. Stetson University.

Good old Stetson U. has acquired part of the Deland naval air station from the WAA and announces it will use the land to expand athletic facilities. I take that to mean the college will go in more heavily for football.

I was discussing the possibilities of this with Mr. Jim Gibbons, the celebrated sports broadcaster; and he said the first thing Stetson U. should have is an appropriate football yell. At a critical point in the game, he said, the Stetsonies should yell in broken Greek: "Block that hat!"

—3—

OR THEY MIGHT have a stirring college song: "Our alma mater is a hatter."

SENOR DON JULIO ERNESTO HEURTEMATTE, commercial counselor at the Panamanian embassy, who, with his beautiful ballet-dancing wife, Gladys, has knocked social Washington off its pins, was telling me the other day that he had once been offered the presidency of the biggest brewery in Panama.

But the deal fell through because one of the big stockholders was smitten with recollection.

"It won't do," objected the stockholder. "Julio doesn't like beer!"

THE DEMOCRATIC National Committee concluded its big conclave here with a buffet supper, but only two cabinet members showed up.

They may be just cynical, but the national committeemen were heard to observe that the pair who honored them with their company were the two most prominently mentioned as vice-presidential candidates—Secretary of Defense Forrestal and Secretary of Commerce Harriman.

Portsmouth May Have No Mayor

44 PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 7. (AP)—As matters stood today, by 15 votes Tuesday for re-election as mayor, asked the city council last night for a recount. The Portsmouth Civic Ass'n at

A total of 3529 votes was cast in favor of the referendum—169 short of the required 51 per cent of the city's total vote of 7250. Votes opposed totaled 2225. The uncertainty hinges on this point: If the recount should show a counting error and the manager

FORBIDDEN FRUIT

NEWPORT BEACH, Cal., Nov. 7 (AP)—A friendly little gusher was flowing in the William Tallman's back yard today. The question was how to borrow it.

Thick black stuff—oil—has been oozing up in their lot for several days and running into the street. A cap put on an old well some 20 years ago broke. But the city has an ordinance against drilling and, when an oil company offered to pump the Tallmans' well, the council drew up an emergency measure banning pumping.

With oil bringing $1.40 a barrel and a company agent estimating a yield of several hundred barrels daily, the Tallmans were debating how they might cash in on the situation—or whether to have the broken cap replaced.

denied and not mere fragments of it. It determined who was lying and who was telling the truth. It was warranted in finding that the story given by the defendant to the police, as well as the story on direct and especially under cross-examination was a fabric of lies." Noxon's first trial ended in a mistrial. After his second trial in July, 1944, Noxon was sentenced to death, but this sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by former Gov. Tobin in August, 1946, six days before he was scheduled to die in the electric chair.

Last Sept. 4, Noxon's counsel, former Gov. Ely, filed the pardon petition and on Oct. 13, Correction Com. J. Paul Doyle recommended Noxon be given a full pardon, asserting there was reasonable doubt about his guilt.

DRITZ LETTER CITED

Dist. Atty. Albert asserted that the pardon petition was based, in part, on belief that the record did not support the verdict and that the finding of guilt was based on choice of conflicting medical testimony; and second, upon a statement of Dr. Alan R. Moritz, State pathologist and chief government witness at the trial, and letters to the Governor.

In a letter to Gov. Tobin when commutation of Noxon's death sentence was under consideration, Clear Weave maintains its fight against rising prices by pinning prices down to the ground in every department. Here are Dresses for only $4.00 which feature details of much more expensive models—they're tailored by Bellmore, dextrously whipped up in "Beaucruise" nationally known fabric of rayon and acetate. It has the soft feel of wool, the rich look of wool, they're styled for 1947-1948—the skirts are longer—fuller—more graceful—note the long torso look, the refreshing back treatment in the jacket.

Dr. Moritz wrote that Noxon was convicted on circumstantial evidence and he cited the disagreement between himself and defense medical experts. Admitting that the pathologist's correspondence and statements Dr. Moritz made before a legislative committee had created some confusion, Albert stated this had been cleared up in a letter which Dr. Moritz wrote to him. In this letter, Dr. Moritz stated:

"It is obvious that I have no right to express an opinion as to the validity of the jury's verdict. I would regret it exceedingly if statements alleged to have been made by me were construed as evidence that I personally believe Mr. Noxon to be innocent. The evidence so far as I know it supports the government's contention that he was guilty."

Power Shortage Crisis in Maine

The power situation today reached critical proportions in drought-ridden Aroostook County, Me.

Street lighting has been abandoned in many large communities and industry is faced with working from 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. to stagger the drain on the crippled electric supply, which cannot cope with both domestic and industrial users.

The county's 21 starch factories are already working on the night schedule, and shops are closing at 5 p. m. to eliminate the use of artificial light entirely.

The main industry of the county, the growing, processing and shipping of potatoes, is on a two-hours-on, two-hours-off routine to conserve power. During the off hours light and heating in homes is also cut, and motion picture shows are brought to a halt.

These crippling blows which follow the devastating forest fires are due entirely to the lack of rain which has reduced the generating power of the normally fast-flowing Aroostook river, main source of supply, to a critically low level.

The arrival of the destroyer escort Maloy at Portland on Monday is expected to ease the situation slightly. The Maloy will transmit to worst-hit Aroostook County an additional 4500 kilowatts.

Chelsea Commuters Warned of Bridge Closing

Owing to the closing of the Chelsea north drawbridge for repairs between 8:30 tonight and 7 a. m. tomorrow, the Metropolitan Transit Authority today advised Chelsea commuters to use an alternate route via the East Boston tunnel during that period.

For those using the Mystic docks, a shuttle service between City sq. and the docks will be provided.

Boy Kills Lion With .22 Rifle

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 7 (AP)—West Dallas was still talking about its lion hunt today, though the remaining survivor of a pair of the beasts that wandered about five hours was safely caged.

The male and female full-grown African lions yesterday escaped from the cage of their private owner in Possum Hollow. Before a posse of 50 armed men and women ended a five-hour hunt, one man had been bitten and the female lion killed.

George Pointer was bitten on the right arm when he tried to drive the lioness back to her cage. Frank Carroll, 38, wounded the animal with a 12-gauge shotgun. Carroll's 16-year-old son, Alvie, killed it with a .22-caliber rifle bullet after trailing it to a cave.

HE TOOK THE TIP

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 7 (AP)—Judge John W. Murphy interrupted proceedings in U. S. District Court and peered down at the audience.

"Do I see somebody down there reading a racing form?" the jurist asked. "Put him out."

As a deputy marshal moved to carry out the order an unidentified man fled the courtroom.

Harvard A Alumni Ponder War Dead Memorial

Three choices for an appropriate memorial to Harvard's war dead are now being considered by a committee of alumni. Strongest recommendation is for a fund to place a plaque in the college's Memorial Church, coupled with a scholarship endowment. Also in favor is a large student activities center, or a medical center. The final selection will be made at the next session.

$101,000 Hinges On Time of Death

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7 (AP)—Orphans Court Judge Charles Klein has been asked to decide whether Lewis Reising Baingo, 33, died in a plane crash on Long Island 16 months ago and should he declare in the affirmative the survivors will lose $101,000.

Baingo's body was not found although part of the wreckage and the body of a companion were. If Judge Klein rules Baingo died in the mishap, his two children inherit $4000. But if he is presumed alive until seven years after his disappearance, the widow and children will inherit $105,000.

The $105,000 comprises the estate of Baingo's aunt who died in 1928. Her will stipulated he was to get the money outright at age 35—on Nov. 14, 1949. Until that time he gets only income from the estate.

The $105,000 will be divided between nine persons if Baingo is declared legally dead now.

Restitution Walts Extortion Suit

Following an hour-long series of bench conferences, Judge Joseph L. Barron in municipal court today continued the case against Antonio N. Alteri, 42, of Main st., Bradford, on his agreement to make $1500 restitution of money he allegedly extorted from a Brighton woman.

Alteri, chief inspector for the Eastern Massachusetts Railway, and a former marshal in Haverhill, was charged with larceny of $1969.38 and extortion from Mrs. Florence G. Sheehan, 46, of Warren st., Brighton, mother of two grown children.

When the case was called, Atty. William Andrews said Mrs. Sheehan now felt her husband had forced her to make the complaints and that her husband was laying the foundation for a divorce action or alienation of affections suit. Mrs. Sheehan corroborated Andrews's statement.

Murder Trial

Dr. Joseph T. Walker, state police chemist.

Dr. Walker testified a few hours after the crime he poured a benzidine solution, which reveals the presence of blood by turning blue if blood is encountered, on Coggins' hands. He said Coggins denied he had any such stains, but added that the chemical turned blue.

The same test on Dupont, the chemist testified, revealed a "moderately strong" trace of bloodstains on both forearms and the back and palm of his hands. Dr. Walker said Dupont could give no explanation for having bloodstains at that time, but later told State Police Lt. Andrew Trodden he had made himself three hamburgers for breakfast that morning and they probably accounted for the stains.

Defense Atty. Scharton's cross-examination of Dr. Walker was brief. Rolling up his right sleeve, and pointing to a spot between the wrist and elbow, the lawyer asked:

"This is about where you found the blood?" A—Yes.

Q—Isn't it fair to assume that there would be a blood smear on the shirt Dupont was wearing when he got the blood on his arm? A—I can't answer that question yes or no.

Q—The men who made this attack wore overcoats, suit coats and shirts. Isn't it fair to assume that if Dupont was wearing a long overcoat, a suit coat and a shirt, that the blood would have had to go through them in order to get to his arm? A—I couldn't answer that yes or no.

"I am not going to waste any more time on you, sir," Scharton concluded. "That is all."

State Police Lt. Gerald McCarthy was called as the next witness as the State neared completion of its case.

Solon Demands Petitions Be Public

Charging that initiative petitions to bar parochial school pupils from public school buses and legalize birth control were under secret study at the State House, Rep. Edmond J. Donlan of West Roxbury announced today he will appeal to Suffolk Superior Court for a writ of mandamus to have the petitions made public.

Donlan, a member of the committee on judiciary and former assistant corporation counsel for Boston, charged State Sec. Fred. W. Cook refused to give him copies of the petitions and also refused to permit him to make copies of them.

Bondsman Hunts Woman Who Robbed Chinese

Rita Mitchell, 37, of Appleton st., South End and Houlton, Me., who took Yee Yick Waw, 73-year-old Chinese for $527 last month, was being searched for high and low by her bondsman today.

Rita, convicted of breaking and entering and larceny by Judge Joseph T. Zottoli in municipal court, had been released under $1000 bail for disposition of her case today. She didn't show up. A default warrant was issued for her. At the Appleton st. address the bondsman was told she didn't live there anymore.

Atomic Research Centers Left Unguarded at Night

By DAVID SENTNER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—America's major atomic research centers stand wide open to sabotage by foreign agents, it was learned today.

Following testimony before a California Legislative Committee that the University of California radiation laboratories, wherein advanced atomic experiments are being conducted, are left unguarded at night, officialdom here admitted similar conditions existed elsewhere in atomic research centers.

The Army Dept. said its duties do not call for guarding cyclotrons (atom-smashing apparatus) or radiation laboratories, pointing out that in most cases they are private property of universities.

A spokesman for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission maintained there was no need for posting a guard over cyclotrons or laboratories inasmuch as "any secrets pertaining to the atomic bomb are carried in the heads of scientists."

However, a noted scientist connected with the wartime Manhattan District project stated that if the two big cyclotrons at the University of Chicago and the University of California were wrecked or blown up "it would raise hell with our entire post-war program of atomic energy research—both military and industrial."

The 184-inch cyclotron in the radiation laboratories of the University of California is the largest in the world and has already developed amazing knowledge on fissionable materials in its one year of operation.

There are approximately 20 cyclotrons throughout the nation—all unguarded.

Hard Work Urged In Fund Drive

With $4,050,152 already raised in the 1948 Community Fund campaign, Chairman Philip H. Theopold said today that the $6,600,000 goal could be reached if everyone was willing to work harder.

He urged those who are behind on schedule to make the most of the final week that lies ahead. Volunteer workers are also asked to join in the Fund's "Come and See" tours, one of which will leave Fund headquarters in the First Corps Cadets Armory, Arlington st., Monday.

The present 61.4 per cent of the total minimum goal has been reached.

Sensible 13-Yr.-Old

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I am a freshman in high school. There are two boys who like me very much and I like both of them. My problem is that these boys want me to say which one I like best and then to go steady with that one. I have tried to explain that I am too young to go steady and I don't want to. They think this is silly. The whole thing is making me miserable. Please tell me how I can make them understand that I like them both and would like to go with both of them, but don't want to be tied down to going steady with anyone. "Right In The Middle."

DEAR "Right In The Middle"—You are very sensible indeed to feel as you do about this matter, and I am glad that, at 13, you have such a wise head on your shoulders.

Don't let any foolish boys turn it.

Keep right on telling them what you know to be the truth—that you are too young for going steady.

If they cannot see your point, and both of them have good times with you, then I would not worry about them, but just let them go their way.

Sachet Powder Especially for Furs

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

YOU CAN'T CHANGE the spots on the leopard... and you can't stem the rush of the tide... the tide of femininity, that is... that's making every one of us gals young and those who wish they were younger, capitalize on every wile in the book.

Since there is no reading the crystal ball to find out how far this femininity angle is to be carried in beauty and clothes... we might as well make beauty and fashion hay while it lasts... and while it is the expected pose to strike.

Who knows... by some quirk of tricky fate and the perverted sense of the experts... tailored severity may suddenly be ushered in as "the look"? Could be... though, heaven forbid! Since everything moves in cycles... there's no telling about the feminine question... although Christian Dior, father of the "new look," gave it 10 more years of blossoming... and Pierre Balmain, another Parisian advocate of the feminine-look, five years.

Since the fashionists have been delving into the romantic past for the silhouettes that gave devastating, though dignified, charm to women... there's been a strong and marked revival of sachet to induce the nostalgic and companionate aura of soft loveliness. Ever since we can remember... and memory reminds us of what the printed book contained... sachet fragrance has been the selected of the select.

Its subtlety was that nice touch which pointed up a lovely woman's elegant taste in fragrance. Its lack of the obvious, however, never took away from its potency. Of that you can be certain.

But a noted perfumer has gone the meaningful purpose of sachet one better. Instead of making it a faint, delicate aura... he's spiked it with whole-hog feminine allure. To the snow-white, kitten-purr-soft scented powder he's added a deep, mysterious fragrance... as exotic as the jungle and as untamed as a tiger.

CAN BE USED ON SKIN, TOO

Its creator blended it especially for use on furs. He chose for its formula rare essential oils that have a flattery affinity for furs and linger in them lastingly without ever changing character. But take it from me... the skin of your body has an equally delightful affinity for this rich, mysterious-scented sachet as furs.

So use it on your skin while you're waiting for the time when you'll have a bonafide excuse for wearing those new fur fashions that have been making the gals think carefully about their bank balance since back in summer. For furs are so romantic this season.

Fur hoods that latch a pretty profile... draped dolmans that give one a swathed "lady of the snows" look... ermine accessories, irresistible with black... fur stoles to be worn with quiet elegance... fur hats and matching muffs that help a gal acquire the "avenue" savoir faire... all of which adds up to the fact that this winter's furs especially deserve a divine fur perfume.

That's exactly what we have in mind when we tell you about this untamed scent... whether you sprinkle the sachet on your furs or your body... or the perfume itself, as the ultimate exclamation point of something pretty special to look at and be near.

For the name of this sachet powder, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, any day except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LADIES! Don't Miss Ruth Mugglebee's New Beauty and Fashion Columns Starting in Next Sunday's Advertiser.

LINGER LONGER! Both the model and the sachet... especially designed to linger almost endlessly in lovely furs. An extremely concentrated version of its noted namesake perfume... it is a natural for the dramatic new fur accessories. Do as the model is doing... sprinkle a bit in your barrel-shaped muff or your new fur toque... or try it directly on your skin as a body perfume. Me, oh, my... the times are feminine!

Fruit Flavors. Meat Dish

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

ONE OF THE EASIEST WAYS to "dress up" a simple meat dish is to serve some kind of fruit with it. Try it with a pot roast, for example. Pot roast is a proverbial favorite for fall. Incidentally, it is a first-class method of preparing some of the less tender beef cuts now available.

When prunes are chosen as the fruit to be used, they may be cooked right along with the meat in the same pan. This gives them a touch of the meat flavor, so that they blend well with the liquid, and adding a touch of spice, you raise the dish into the truly inspired class.

Whether you are using one of the lower grades of beef or a less tender cut of quality beef the secret of having your pot roast delectably tender is to cook it long and slowly. The method of cooking used is that of braising, which calls for thorough browning of the meat first, before liquid is added.

The difference between this method and stewing, for example, is that only a small amount of liquid is used in braising. A tight cover on the pan keeps in the steam, which softens the connective tissues and makes the meat tender.

BEEF POT ROAST WITH PRUNES

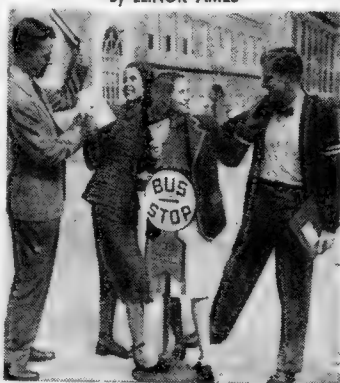

3 to 4 lbs. pot roast (chuck or brisket)
1 cup salt and pepper
3 tbsp. lard or other fat
1/2 lb. dried prunes, soaked
2 onions, sliced
4 whole cloves
Nutmeg 1 cup cider

Brown the meat on all sides in hot lard. Add onions. When meat and onions are both browned, add soaked prunes, cloves, salt and pepper, nutmeg and cider. Reduce temperature, cover, and let simmer slowly until done. Add small amounts of water from time to time if needed. Apple juice or diluted vinegar may be used instead of cider.

When selecting a pot-roast, it is wise to get one that is large enough to last for more than one meal. After the meat has been cooked and served the first time, any that is left should be covered carefully and kept in the refrigerator. Then, a day or two later, you can make one of those mouth-watering meat casseroles or meat and vegetable pies.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

HIGH SCHOOL HINTS—The boys and girls who shove on bus or train, "resh" for seats, make unnecessary noise in public, etc., are annoying to adults who must use the same public conveyances. Such youngsters show themselves as unmanly children, not poised students!

Elegant "New Suit"

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE formalized dressmaker suit, as elegant as an afternoon dress yet as warm and wearable as a tweed suit, has always been popular with smart women.

This year its popularity has reached flood tide proportions; its slim, suave figure stands out in all the collections and makes comment wherever fashionable women gather.

Like all good fashion, the dressmaker suit is expressive of the times.

The suit designed by Wilson Folmar and sketched today combines yellow beige and black wool and adds a touch of black velvet for ladylike emphasis. The jacket is curved through the waist and flared over the hips. The rounded line of its lapels is picked up in the black velvet scrolls at the jacket hemline. The slim skirt is curved upward from each side at the front hem.

Smart Set May Premiere Parties Planned

By BETTY ALDEN

MOST EVERYONE in Boston's social world has a theater date for next Monday evening. A double-header premiere will take place at The Astor, the city's most ultra modern theater located on the site of the famous old Tremont. Distinguished members of the Hub's civic and social sets will be present to commemorate the opening of the theater as well as the world premiere of John Ford's "The Fugitive," co-starring Henry Fonda and Dolores Del Rio.

Another red letter occasion Monday evening will be the opening of "Lady Windermere's Fan," the delightful Oscar Wilde comedy that was the hit of Broadway last season. This is the fourth play in the Theater Guild and American Theater Society subscription series and will be presented at the Colonial.

Cor. Mary M. Hobbs is the star and the lavish sets and costumes of the mauve decade are by Cecil Beaton, noted London artist.

Among those planning to attend the invitation pre-view of the Astor Theater is a large group of young people coming on from a Dutch treat dinner and including Mary Marland Hobbs and her fiancé, Richard C. Cobb; Mr. and Mrs. Julian Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Dorens and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mattison.

Others to be present are Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Osgood, Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Titcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick K. Bradlee, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Powers, and Mrs. F. Wadsworth Buck with their daughters, Rose and Caroline Mr. and Mrs. Roger Eastman Hall, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller in a family party and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin W. Hobbs.

Theater Guild first-nighters will include Mr. and Mrs. Andrew N. Winslow, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Prouty, Mrs. Frank G. Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Augustus S. Nye, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Bradley French, Mrs. Fred C. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Doran, Dr. and Mrs. William F. Cotting, Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Donovan, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Steinert, Mrs. Frederic B. Walker, Mrs. George Jackson Hill, Mr. and Mrs. C. Phillips Purdy and Mr. and Mrs. Royden Loring.

EXCERPTS FROM her Grandmother's Diary which dates back to 1840 will be read by Mrs. Joseph A. Cushman at the first meeting and tea of the season of the Warren and Prescott Chapter, D.A.R., Monday afternoon in the library of the Women's Republican Club. Mrs. Cushman is a former regent of the Paul Revere Chapter. She will appear in a costume of 1840.

Mrs. Rutherford Bingham, regent of the Warren and Prescott Chapter, will preside at the business and board meeting and she and Miss Edith Scammon will be hostesses for the afternoon.

Among those planning to attend are Mrs. Allan L. Priddy, Mrs. Henry L. Houghton, Mrs. Henry J. Freeman, Mrs. Robert G. Valentine, Mrs. Joseph C. Howzer, Mrs. George C. Houser, Mrs. August C. Klein, Mrs. Percival Mott, Mrs. Ethel M. Burton, Mrs. Robert C. Vose, Miss Mary S. Holbrook and Miss Grace G. Hiller.

Also Mrs. Wilbur S. Grant, Miss Mary F. Hooper, Mrs. G. Loring Briggs, Mrs. Alexander B. Ewing, Miss Sarah L. Guild, Mrs. Walter P. Wright, Mrs. A. Marshall Jones, Mrs. J. Foster White, Miss Margaret A. Fish, Miss Rosamond Sears Crompton, Miss Mary Leighton, Miss Maria D. Hastings, Miss Marian C. Elliot, Miss Helen C. Gilbert and Mrs. Harold Williams.

ROUND AND ABOUT: Mrs. John Ramsay, formerly of Chestnut Hill, has just moved back to Boston after living for two years in Hartford. Her first visit here was to the fall flower show now open at Horticultural Hall under auspices of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society and the Chrysanthemum Society of America.

It's the largest autumn flower show in America and a parade of all the lovely rich varieties of the season's final flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Webster have a lovely exhibit of blossoms from their Chestnut Hill estate, featuring the brilliant yellow Jane Harries trailing over a rustic stone wall. They are named for their granddaughter, Jane Harries Choate.

There are no debutante parties scheduled for this week-end because of the Harvard-Princeton game. Harvard's exclusive clubs, Fox, Iroquois, D. K. E., Phoenix, etc., are having stag dinners this evening. Stag lines at the debut parties are composed for the most part of undergraduate members of these organizations.

'The Fugitive' Will Open Astor Tuesday

An eagerly anticipated event is the Tuesday twin premiere of "The Fugitive," the Henry Fonda-starring John Ford-Merian C. Cooper production, and the new Astor theater on the site of the old Tremont Theater.

Glamorous Dolores Del Rio and Pedro Armendariz, exciting, young Latin-American screen idol, share top billing with Fonda in RKO

Radio's latest release. Based on Graham Green's novel, "The Power and the Glory," "The Fugitive" was adapted for the screen by Dudley Nichols.

Fonda is cast as the courageous idealist who defies military authority and becomes a hunted man, aided only by a few scattered friends. One of those who come to his aid is a tarnished lawyer impersonated by Miss Del Rio, in her first appearance in a Hollywood-produced picture since her long reign as Mexico's favorite screen star.

Although the film deals with an unnamed Latin-American country, it was filmed in its entirety in Mexico. Gabriel Figueroa, celebrated as "the world's greatest cinematographer," was the cameraman.

Cronin Names Sox All-Stars; Higgins at 3rd

By JACK CONWAY

JOE CRONIN took time out from his duties as general manager of the Red Sox to name an All-Star team from the list of players he managed while with the Red Sox. The Cronin selections follow:

Jimmy Foxx, 1b; Bobby Doerr, 2b; Johnny Pesky, ss; "Pinky" Higgins, 3b; Ted Williams, lf; Dom DiMaggio, cf; Joe Vosmik, rf; Lefty Grove, Wes Hughson, Dave Ferriss and Wes Ferrell, pitchers; George Tebbetts and Rick Ferrell, catchers.

Cronin gave this writer his choices without any delay. "That would make a pretty good ball team," added Joe. The Red Sox have had no top first baseman since Jimmy Foxx passed his peak. Rudy York looked impressive the year the Red Sox won the pennant, but then faded and was traded.

Cronin believes that the ballplayers of his period applied themselves more to their work than do the present-day stars.

"Things have changed in baseball like in everything else," went on Cronin. "Ballplayers, once they reach a certain point in their careers, become satisfied and are willing to sit back and take things easy. In my days as an active player, we probably spent more time playing baseball and thinking about it."

Cronin likes his new duties as general manager. "I had some experience with representing the club last season and so my job is not altogether new to me. I was satisfied to step down from an active manager and move into the front office."

Cronin has repeatedly praised Joe McCarthy, who will pilot the Sox next season. Joe considers McCarthy as the greatest manager in baseball.

McCarthy will have the right to name his own coaches and trainer. These are rights that are usually given to major league managers.

Building Strong Minor League Farm System

CRONIN SAID he plans to build the strongest possible minor league farm system.

"We must look to our own farm system for our future stars," said Cronin. "The clubs that will do well over the long period are those that possess powerful farm systems. I have spent considerable time this week with George Toporcer going over our farm systems. You know, we are still trying to get a third baseman. This was one of my problems during the past two seasons and we hope to solve it."

Cronin will be unable to attend any of the Saturday football games as he will be traveling to Cincinnati to attend the draft meeting on Nov. 11.

"We shall not make any trades until we attend the minor league and major league meetings," asserted Cronin. "We shall do everything possible to get Joe McCarthy the players he wishes."

"One cannot go out and buy players any more as most clubs have plenty of money. They are all seeking players, and it will develop into a question of what players one must surrender to secure needed strength."

Sox Players Are Expected to Sign Quickly

CRONIN DOES not expect to have any trouble signing Red Sox players to new contracts.

"We shall send out the contracts in January or early February and we do not look for a single holdout. I am not yet prepared to say what the terms of Ted Williams' contract will be, but you may be sure the great slugger will be back with us in 1943. I do not think I shall have any trouble signing Ted."

"I thought Williams played the best baseball of his career during the past year. In addition to hitting well, his fielding and base running were tops."

I gave Cronin one football question.

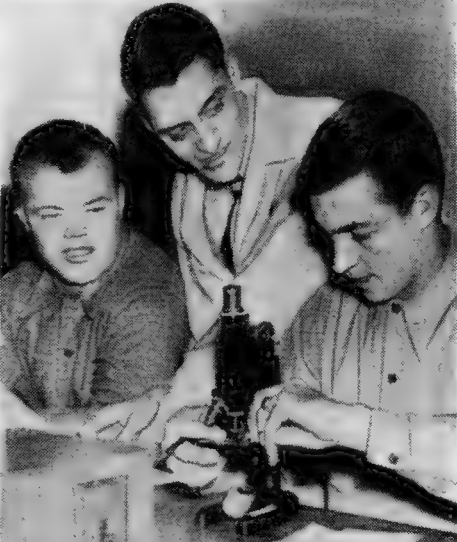

"Who do you like, Joe, Notre Dame or the Army?"

"The 'Fighting Irish' by three touchdowns," was the quick reply.

BC Signs Denny Myers To Four-Year Contract

On the eve of the game with Wake Forest, Boston College officials announced today that Denny Myers had been signed to a new four-year contract to coach football at the Heights.

IT'S NOT ALL PLAY—Bob Livingston, Notre Dame backfield star, uses a microscope in the human physiology lab while classmate and instructor follow the experiment.

Terms of the agreement were not disclosed but it was supposed in football circles that Myers had been offered a substantial increase in salary.

Myers' present contract will expire at the conclusion of this football season in which the Eagles have chalked up four victories against a single defeat, a one-point loss to Louisiana State. The team has again been prominently mentioned as a post-season Bowl candidate.

The signing will offer Coach Myers security that he lacked in the past, especially when he was the subject of severe criticism after his team had lost a 55-12 decision to Holy Cross after a tremendous season. The contract for four years is longer than any previously tendered the former Iowa U. football star.

Myers' teams, since he took over after Frank Leahy in 1941, have won 24 games while losing nine. In 33 contests under Myers, B. C. has never been held scoreless.

In announcing the new contract athletic director John Curley said that "Mr. Myers enjoys our complete confidence and we're very happy that he will be with us for another four years."

Myers expressed "full satisfaction with the terms of the new contract." He stated that he was "most grateful for the opportunity to continue as head coach at the Heights."

Myers, 42 years old next Monday, interrupted his coaching career at Boston College by an enlistment of almost three years in the U. S. Navy. He served in the South Pacific as a lieutenant-commander.

His 1942 club won the Eastern championship but then lost to Alabama in the Orange Bowl on Jan. 1, 1943. He makes his home in Brighton.

Weather May Cut Irish to Army Size

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 7 (AP)—Undefeated Notre Dame is favored to whip once-beaten, once-tied Army by as many as five touchdowns, but an overflow crowd of 58,000 may be treated to a rip-roaring, if mud-coated, surprise ending to football's most colorful rivalry tomorrow.

As this northern Indiana community began to pulsate with excitement over Army's first—and last—invasion, the weatherman threatened to throw a monkey wrench into the best laid plans of the aerial-minded Irish and the bet-makers.

The weather prophet wasn't sure, but he said it looked like showers tomorrow which might cut the Irish down to size for Army's yeoman line and perhaps turn the fray into as ding-dong a standoff as last year's scoreless tie, or other thrilling impasses in the feud dating back to 1913.

Army, reported stronger than last year from tackle to tackle and boasting a speedy backfield to defend against Notre Dame's heralded passing attack, has everything to gain and nothing to lose. Just such West Point machines battled favored Notre Dame to a scoreless tie in 1922; trounced the unbeaten Irish, 13-0, in 1927; belted the powerful 1931 Irish, 12 to 0, and ended Notre Dame's chances for a perfect season in 1941 with a scoreless tie.

There isn't much in the records to hint an Army upset of Notre Dame.

The Cadets have sunk their teeth into only two substantial foes in six games and then emerged with a scoreless tie against Illinois and an astounding 21-20 defeat by Columbia.

The Fighting Irish, on the other hand, have rolled up victories over Pittsburgh, Purdue, Nebraska, Iowa and Navy, yielding only 13 points and holding their opponents scoreless in the last 15 periods.

Be that as it may, the Irish coaching staff fearfully predicts that Notre Dame will be lucky to turn back Army by one touchdown, or even one point.

Scout Jack Lavelle, who has scouted Army so much he is mistaken for the Cadet water-boy, thinks Notre Dame will do well to win by a 7-0 score. He anticipates an Army passing attack that will rival the sharp-shooting of Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack and Frank Tripucka and the most spirited test of the Irish line this season.

Coach Earl Blaik will lead his Cadets into town shortly after noon today and, after a workout at Notre Dame's practice field, will whisk them to Lake Wausau, 40 miles away, for a secluded night.

Probable starting lineups:

ARMY—Bakers, ls; Fair, rt; Steffy, lg; Young, c; Henry, re; Bryant, rt; Trent, re; Galt, qb; Stuart, lb; Scott, rh; Scott, rh; Roach, o.

NOTRE DAME—Martin, ls; Connor, lb; Platter, lg; Walsh, c; Wendell, rt; Cunningham, re; Lujack, qb; Brennan, rh; Hart, re; Lujack, rh; Platter, rh; Binko, rh; Farrell, rh.

Dartmouth Workouts On Enemy Territory

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 7 (AP)—Dartmouth's Indians, short on experience and reserve power, but long on spirit and defensive ability, will work out today at Baker Field, N. Y., where tomorrow they tangle with Columbia, up-setter of Army.

In its final home workout yesterday the Big Green again concentrated on pass defense before turning to its own passing offense. All members of the squad are fit and ready, hopeful of downing Columbia, which is a two touchdown favorite.

'HEAD COACH QUILTS

Claiming that interference from fathers and lack of co-operation from the athletic association prompted his move, Dave Morey, football coach at Marblehead High tendered his resignation to the School Committee last night.

CELTICS PLAY STEAM ROLLERS

The Celtics will receive their first test since they opened training camp three weeks ago in Portland, Me., tonight when they play an exhibition game with the Providence Steam Rollers.

Two other games in as many days have been arranged for both teams before they open the Basketball Association of America campaign next week. Tomorrow night, they play in Worcester, Ct., and Sunday afternoon, they conclude their three-game New England exhibition tour at Worcester's Mechanics Hall.

Husky Hoop Squad Will Play 20 Games; Open at Worcester

A 20-game Northeastern varsity basketball slate, half of which will be home-and-home contests, was announced this morning by Prof. Edward S. Parsons, director of athletics. Practices will get under way immediately following next week's exams.

The Huskies are scheduled to play two games each with Boston University, Tufts, Maine, M. I. T. and New Hampshire. Single contests will be with Bates, Massachusetts, Worcester Tech, Connecticut, Fort Devens, B. A. A., Arnold, Lowell Tech, Colby and Clark.

The schedule follows:
 Dec. 6 at Worcester Tech; 10 at Tufts; 13 U. of Mass. at Amherst; 17, Bates, 20, Colby.
 Jan. 3 B. A. A. at 7; at B. U.; 10 Maine; 14 M. I. T.; 17, Arnold; 24, Lowell Tech; 29, at New Hampshire; 31, B. U.
 Feb. 7 at Clark; 13 at Colby; 14, at Maine; 19, at Devens; 23, New Hampshire; 25, at M. I. T.; Tufts.
 Home games are played at Johnson Memorial Gym, in the Y. M. C. A.

Salem Boxer Back On Amateur Card

Runner-up to the New England featherweight championship, Pete Newell of Salem will swing back into action in the amateur fight program to be staged at Mechanics Building tomorrow night by the South End A. C.

Newell will be facing Henry Miller, Roxbury; Louis Wigfall, U. S. Navy, and Jim Gezzetti, Watertown.

Wigfall is one of four U. S. Navy boxers entered in the show. Others will be middleweights Charlie Italiano, Diamond Belt champion of N. Y. C., and Red Ruffin; and light-heavyweight Al Tsakris, N. E. senior titlist.

Leahy Picks Princeton, BC, HC, Penn to Win

By FRANK LEAHY

Head Coach at Notre Dame

With teams now past the halfway mark and headed down a homestretch tricky with tension and fatigue, each game from now on takes on added significance for coach and player. Any team with a perfect record offers a doubly alluring target to a bunch of boys eager to make up for an early season loss.

That's why football is such a great sport. There is no earthly way to figure how a group of immature youngsters will react from week to week. Tomorrow at Philadelphia this holds true for unbeaten Pennsylvania and a likewise unblemished Virginia.

Our game with Army at South Bend should answer lots of questions about the Notre Dame team.

Boston College 14, Wake Forest 13—A point either way could decide this one. The Eagles are playing at home, however, and should get the extra point to please the home folk.

Princeton 14, Harvard 13—Here's another contest that is a toss-up. But we believe the Tigers will get the breaks. Just a hunch.

Michigan 23, Indiana 7—The Wolverines had another tough game in beating Illinois and it's time they started rolling again.

Pennsylvania 14, Virginia 7—Penn faces a stubborn foe tomorrow, but the Red and Blue should have power enough to keep their record clean. Georgia Tech 21, Navy 7—Navy tied Duke. Tech beat Duke. Aside from this we think Bobby Dodd's smart Engineers are bowl-bound and will go over the Middles if they can't get through them.

Texas 25, Baylor 6—Blair Cherry's lads should come roaring back after last week's one-point beating by Southern Methodist. The Longhorns are one of the nation's powerhouses with a really line back in Bobby Layne. Southern California 35, Stanford 0—The Trojans have too much power, deception and confidence for this week's opponent.

Penn State 33, Temple 7—One of the country's strongest, the Nittany Lions have totaled more than 250 points to 14 by opponents. They may not be invited to a Bowl, which might be just as well for some unsuspecting eleven.

Purdue 7, Minnesota 6—Both are stubborn and tough, but we believe the Boilermakers have a slight edge.

Utah 20, Colorado A. & M. 6—The Redskins go after their seventh straight and are fast making the rest of the gridiron circles aware of their presence in the nation this season.

Other selections:

California over Washington; Columbia over Dartmouth; Cornell over Syracuse; Detroit over Nevada; Duke over Missouri; Georgia over Florida; Illinois over Western Michigan; Kansas over Nebraska; Kentucky over West Virginia; Maryland over Duquesne; Miss. State over Auburn; Michigan State over Santa Clara; Mississippi over Tennessee; North Carolina over North Carolina State; Northwestern over Ohio State; Oklahoma A.&M. over Tulsa; Oregon over Washington State; Rice over Arkansas; Rutgers over Lafayette; SMU over Texas A.&M.; UCLA over Oregon State; Vanderbilt over Tennessee Tech; Villanova over Marquette; Wisconsin over Iowa; and Yale over Brown.

Wake Forest Better Than Records Indicate

By FRED HOEY

For the sake of the records, Wake Forest never offers an alibi for a defeat, but makes no bones about charging poor officiating as the cause of the 13 to 6 loss suffered at the hands of Duke.

Very capable Peahead Walker, Demon Deacon coach, seldom comes off the bench during a game to dispute a point with the officials but in the recent tilt with the Blue Devils, he very noisily voiced his disapproval of the officials' judgment.

When Duke was awarded a first down on the Wake Forest third yard line for interference that was probably due, though the decision was called on a mighty close play. But when a Duke back failed to cross the goal line, but was awarded a touchdown, Walker emphatically stated his disapproval.

Wake Forest's very personable publicity director and advance guard of the Deacon contingent that arrives in the Hub today, Tom Bost, seriously avers that the Demon Deacs should be boasting an undefeated record now, instead of one marred by two blemishes. However, he did admit that the loss to William and Mary was also slightly tainted as no less than 10 Deacons were injured and could be used only sparingly.

Agent Bost, heralding the now-famous North Carolinians, discounts reports that Bud Lail and Carl Haggard will not be available for action against B. C. Though both are slightly injured they will see service against the Eagles.

Wake Forest will depend upon its big line (the biggest to face B. C. this season, averaging 213 pounds) and passer Tom Fetzner and his ends Jim Duncan and Ed Bradley as its main offensive threats.

Having truly learned that B. C. is notoriously weak rushing enemy passers, Wake Forest plans to capitalize on this point.

Since BC emerged with no serious injuries from their Georgetown game and with the possibility that Joe Diminick will be ready, they may be at full strength for the first time since the Clemson opener. Myers' men appear to be in better condition than the Deacons who have been plagued with minor, but not unimportant injuries.

Both starting teams figure to present a rugged style of football but when Walker and Myers have to dig into their replacement bags, that is where the difference will show.

BC has the superior depth.

Hold VFW Sports Night In South Boston Tonight

The second annual sports night of the South Boston VFW, Chapter 6336, will be held tonight at the Patrick Gavin School Auditorium.

Guest speakers will include Charles "Red" Barrett of the Braves and boxers Tommy Sullivan and Al "Red" Priest.

War Cost BC Big Star

If Denny Myers and John P. Curley cast longing looks at Bernie Fitzgerald when they spot him on the Boston College campus, their reasons are justified. Fitzgerald is a 250-pound triple-threat fullback who doesn't play football.

The Chestnut Hill behemoth first came to University Heights in 1941 on recommendation of Frank Leahy, who had spotted him as a schoolboy standout at Mission High, Roxbury.

Fitzgerald played freshman football in '41 with Tom Egan, Willie De Rosa, Mario Gianelli, Joe Kulis and Vic Palladino, all members of the current Eagle squad. He entered the Army early in '42.

When Denny Myers took over the head coaching post at B. C. after Leahy's transfer to South Bend, he started immediately to build his offense around Fitzgerald, who rated high in Leahy's estimation.

However, Bernie's gridiron activities came to an abrupt conclusion in the Army when he suffered a shoulder injury during the invasion of Normandy.

Considered on a par with Mike Holovak in the spring of '42, Fitzgerald's mishap won't permit him to don mole skins and cheer to the ovations of the fans.

Curley and Myers can dream, though, and both can picture the ponderous plunger who can kick and pass and run roughshod over Eagle opponents.

B. C. FROSH PLAYS

While Denny Myers planned only a light no-contact drill for Boston College's final practice in preparation for the Wake Forest game, Tom Moran's freshman grid squad makes their local bow against Mari-anapolis Academy, this afternoon at Alumni Field.

Stopped by Dartmouth's yearlings in their only game to date, the Eagles will unveil their heralded 200-pound fullback, Ed Petela, whom Myers personally endorses as capable of variety competition even though he is a first year man.

Army-Notre Dame Tilt Tops Nation's Grid Slate

By BILL GRIMES

There are a number of Grade A-1 attractions on tomorrow's football agenda, but the Notre Dame-Army classic at South Bend is entitled to and getting top billing.

Since Frank Leahy returned from a two-year tour of duty in the Navy, the Fighting Irish have compiled a record of thirteen victories, one tie and no defeats, while fulfilling a schedule loaded with TNT. Army, until knocked off by the Columbia Lions, had been through 32 conflicts without a setback.

In some quarters, the scribes are stressing that Leahy and Blaik are feuding. The story goes that Leahy resented the Army pouring it on the Notre Dame team that Ed McKeever coached, but there's another side to that story. The same Fighting Irish squad that was batted from pillar to post by the Kaydets in New York belted the living daylight out of a wartime Dartmouth squad right here at Fenway Park. You can take it from me that Earl Blaik didn't relish that slaughter. Probably the gossipmongers are not aware that "Red" Blaik would still be at Dartmouth but for the fact that he felt it was his duty to return to West Point during the war.

As was the case a year ago when the squads battled to a scoreless tie in the Yankee Stadium, Notre Dame rules a slight favorite, which is as "Red" Blaik prefers it. It will be a battle royal from start to finish and the Army must not be counted out until the final whistle blows.

There'll be a couple of better than average football squads in action tomorrow at Braves Field. The Boston College Eagles realize that Duke, which eliminated Wake Forest from the undefeated and untied group two weeks ago, is one of the country's best clubs. Moreover, they know that the Deacons were far below war strength a week ago, when they were taken over the jumps by William & Mary, another formidable aggregation of pigskin chasers.

Fortunately, the Eagles are in better physical shape than they have been in more than a month but they cannot afford to have any mental lapses if they are going to remain in competition for a bowl bid. Across the river Harvard has a tartar on its hands in Princeton. In the past, Crimson-Tiger games have been pink tea affairs. Tomorrow's tilt will not be the exception. Dick Harlow's chances of upsetting the Tigers depends greatly on the right arm of Jim Kenarty, who has been sidelined since the Virginia game.

The Tigers play a razzle-dazzle type of football and have a great forward passing battery in Capt. Dick West and George Sella, a sophomore, and a fine break-away back in Paul Cowle, a letter man on the track team. The Brown Bears will be clawing at Yale in New Haven, Holy Cross will be host to Colgate and Tuss McLaughry hopes he has hit upon a defense which will enable Dartmouth to stop Columbia in New York.

The three undefeated and untied New England colleges haven't too much in the way of competition. Wesleyan should beat Williams and win the "Little Three" title, Trinity is a snoo-in to take Norwich and New Hampshire has too much for "Fish" Ellis' Jumbos.

Three of the country's major eleven's yet to be tied or beaten will be in action in Philadelphia. The Virginia Cavaliers will have a rough time getting through Penn at Franklin Field but Penn State is too powerful for Temple.

Bobby Dodd's "Rambling Wrecks" of Georgia Tech are given the edge over Navy and Southern Methodist is not looking for too much opposition from the Texas Aggies at College Station.

Despite the fact that Army is at South Bend, the Indiana-Michigan game at Ann Arbor will play to a capacity crowd of 75,000. "Bo" McMillan would like nothing better than to have his Hoosiers beat Fritz Crisler's Wolverines, who are on their way to the Rose Bowl, unless derailed by Indians or Wisconsin.

The Purdue Boilermakers, who do not play Michigan, will go all out against the Minnesota Gophers, while praying for the Wolverines to fall. Northwestern should not be conceded too much of an edge over Ohio State, but Wisconsin should beat Iowa.

While Bear and Colby are resting up, Maine will move a step nearer the Pine Tree State championship at the expense of the Bowdoin Polar Bears, who will be their guests at Orono.

The North Carolina State-North Carolina game will attract the fans to Raleigh. The Tarheels from Chapel Hill have been disappointing this fall and the "wolves" have been snipping at the heels of Coach Carl Snavely. If the Wolfpack come through, it's an even bet that Snavely will not be retained by the Tarheels. There's a strong possibility that General Bob Neyland's Tennessee Vols will drop their fifth major game to Mississippi at Oxford.

Southern California, Oregon and both branches of the University of California should be winners in the Pacific Coast League.

Injured Brockton Player Aided by Raynham Game

Roland Fortin, 28-year-old backfield star of the Brockton Eagles semi-pro football team now confined to a Hyannis hospital with a broken back suffered in a game on the Cape, will be the sole recipient of funds raised by a charity football game to be played at Raynham Park on Armistice Day afternoon.

The game will match the Brockton All-Stars, a composite of four Brockton teams, and the Barnstable Town Club.

Hold Foxhound Field Trials At Attleboro Club Sunday

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Injecting color into the local sporting scene is the Attleboro Red Fox Club, which will stage its 15th annual fall foxhound field trial Sunday, on the grounds off Fairview ave., Rehoboth, on Rt. 118. The cast will take place at 6 a. m. just as the first rays of the sun dance through the fading foliage. Edward C. Graney advises us that a record number of foxhounds will be in action, and all should be in "good voice," baying after the foxes which are said to be plentiful in the vicinity. This event is open to the public, and will provide a varied and exciting spectacle.

Harold White, well-known fox hunter, of Attleboro, will act as Master of Hounds. The prizes will consist of cash, rosettes, and ribbons. Since the club is a member of the National Fox Hunters' Ass'n, the hunt will be scored by National rules.

Another big field trial is set for tomorrow and Sunday at West Barnstable, where the North-eastern Ass'n will conduct championship events, open to dogs that have already placed in other title classes.

Jockey Dies From Fall

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 7 (INS)—Joseph McGovern, well-known steeplechase jockey who had been riding for 18 years, died today from injuries suffered in a fall at Pimlico a week ago.

McGovern, 36, was from New York and Baltimore. He suffered fractured ribs and internal injuries last Oct. 31 when he fell from the steeplechase horse Battle Cruiser.

The jockey is survived by his widow, Lois, and four children, two from a previous marriage.

Rewrite Law on Schoolboy Players

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 7 (INS)—Baseball's executive council decided today to recommend that the major leagues, at their Dec. 11 meeting in New York, rewrite the rule pertaining to signing of high school players.

The council will recommend that it be re-written according to Baseball Comm. A. B. "Happy" Chandler's interpretation that all high school students are ineligible for signing and not just those who are under the National High School Federation rules.

Also to be recommended is legislation forbidding major league teams from inviting or requesting players to start spring training before March 1.

Chandler's office indicated only a "routine meeting" is in prospect for Monday's morning draft session.

It was announced that the council has approved Chandler's budget for 1948, including the employment of two investigators reported to be former FBI men.

The pension committee voted Bill Dickey, Clarence Campbell, Ray Berres and Maurice Van Robays into full pension benefits.

BRASSLEY SUSPENDED

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 7 (AP)—Theodore (Tiger Ted) Brassley of Portland, a middleweight, was suspended from ring activity for 35 days today by the State Boxing Commission "for failure to put forth his best efforts in a bout in Portland, Nov. 4."

Shkor's Foe Got Boxing Start While Playing Basketball

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

There was a basketball game being played a few years ago in a little hamlet on the fringe of the Kentucky Hills. The Kentucky Golden Glove champion, Oliver Hash, came charging down the floor. Hash cut to his left and crashed into the center on the other high school team. Words were exchanged. The atmosphere grew heavy. The crowd screamed as the big center floored Hash with an overhand right to the head. The fight was over!

Walter Hafer, the big 200-pound 17-year-old center for the Middleboro team, looked down at his hands. He liked basketball and football (he was an All-State full-back) and he liked running the 100-yard dash. But now he knew that he liked fighting the best of all.

So Hafer fought in amateur tournaments, winning the State Golden Gloves twice, and losing to Herbert Hood in the finals of the Chicago Gloves. The war broke out and he went with the Marines to places like Guadalcanal, Okinawa, Guam and Japan. While in the Marines, he engaged in a few professional fights. Now he is out of the Marines and waging a hot campaign to assert himself as one of the country's top heavyweights.

Monday night, Hafer will be the center of attraction as he fights big Johnny Shkor at the Arena.

The fight may be a good one. Both men are big, strong and active. Shkor is heavier and has more ring experience, but Hafer is a determined boxer and a strong puncher who cannot be regarded lightly. This Shkor fight means a lot to him.

Don Raleigh Signs Ranger Ice Contract

WINNIPEG, Nov. 7 (AP)—Don Raleigh, brilliant center of the Winnipeg Red Wings in the City Senior League, today said he had agreed to sign a contract with the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League following a telephone conversation with Ranger Coach Frank Boucher.

It will be his second time in the N. H. L. He played for the Rangers three years ago, at 17 being one of the youngest players in the league.

ABSOLVE OMA IN FIX FIGHT CASE

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 7 (AP)—Chairman Frank Fawcett of the Wisconsin State Athletic Commission said last night Les Oma, Detroit heavyweight boxer, "was in no way implicated" in the reported case of an attempt to intimidate Colton Chaney of Indianapolis prior to their bout here last week.

"Oma should not be involved in this case," Fawcett said. "Perhaps Chaney had a nightmare in reporting the story. Oma absolutely is in the clear. It was just an unfortunate coincidence that Oma was billed to fight Chaney, therefore his name had to be mentioned. I regret very sincerely if the story cast any reflections on him."

Princeton Favored To End Harvard Hex

Forty-four snarling Tigers pull into Back Bay Station today to settle accounts. Out to break the Harvard hex which has sent them sinking away with their tails between their legs for three games since 1940, the Orange and Black will see themselves as a one-touchdown favorite in Saturday's Stadium contest which marks the 40th grid clash between the two historic institutions.

In 1941, Franny Lee's long touchdown run gave the Crimson a narrow 6-4 verdict. In 1942, a last-minute pass saw them winners by a 19-14 count. After a three-year war break in grid relations, Harvard edged out another hairline decision, 13-12, when Emil Drvaric booted the only extra point after four touchdowns to eke out a thriller.

That's the score Princeton is out to settle. The visitors have a scrappy team which puts on a whale of a show. Their line is a never-say-die outfit that held mighty Pennsylvania twice on the five-yard line. Their backs are fast and tricky, and in Dick West they have an exceptional passing quarterback. That's the material Harvard will be facing when it opens its annual Big Three series with the visiting Tigers tomorrow.

The men of Coach Charlie Caldwell will get a look at an empty Harvard Stadium when they go through a practice session there this afternoon at 3:45. For most of the visitors it will be their first glimpse of the huge ivy-covered arena. But any ideas that the Orange and Black will be quelled at the sight of a large crowd are entirely in the wrong. Take a look at these figures. Last week the Tigers played to a crowd of 49,000 fans who saw Penn invade the Princeton campus. Before that, 34,000 gathered to see Cornell and crowds of 31,000 and 30,000 saw the Rutgers and Colgate clashes.

B's Chiefs Laud Milt, Frankie

Highly elated over the play of the Bruins in their four road games, Mgr. Art Ross and Coach Dit Clapper flew home from Chicago late yesterday afternoon and both had special praise for the magnificent goal guarding of Frankie Brimsek and the fine center play of Milt Schmidt.

The Bruins team was returning by train and were expected to arrive in time for an afternoon practice session at the Arena. Practice sessions are also listed for tomorrow, Sunday and Tuesday in preparation for the game in New York against the Rangers next Wednesday. The Bruins do not play in Boston again until Nov. 16, when they meet the Detroit Red Wings.

Ed Harrison, Bruins rookie left winger, is the only player not in top physical form. Harrison suffered a shoulder injury in Detroit, and will be X-rayed today.

The Bruins defeated the Rangers 3-1 and Chicago 2-1 on their trip, tied Toronto 1-1 and lost to Detroit 2-1. "The team played its best hockey in the 1-1 tie with Toronto, and Art Ross said both teams skated themselves into the cement with the result that both were beaters in their following night games.

Clapper said that Chicago, with the added strength of the five players acquired from Toronto in the trade which sent Max Bentley and Cy Thomas to the Leafs, played in impressive manner. "In fact," Clapper said, "if Brimsek had not played sensationally, the Hawks would have beaten us."

Both Ross and Clapper were generally pleased with the play of the team. "They said Eddie Sandford had adjusted himself nicely to his new position at right wing, but he would need a number of games to acquire poise and polish along the boards.

Brimsek returned as the leading goaler in the league, having allowed only 14 goals in eight games.

HOOP GAMES WANTED
The St. Charles Sr. C. Y. O. would like to book basketball games for home and away. The dates at home are for the month of December on Wednesday evenings. Please write or call Louis Parrella, 52 Cedar st., Waltham, Tel. Wal. 4263-W after 6 p. m.

That's a good record for a team that has won two games and lost three.

It's the wide-open brand of football that the Tigers play that makes them such an attraction. And when they line up tomorrow in the Stadium it will be no exception.

Caldwell's flashy attack operates from a stream-lined single wing which is spiked with T-style attachments like men in motion, flankers and spread ends. The line is unbalanced with four men on the same side of the center. Their offense is an effective one that has rolled up 75 points in five games.

Sparked by George Sella, Paul Cowie and John Powers, the ground attack is a deceptive and speedy one. Powers, a 196-pound fullback, is the leading ground gainer with 160 yards. Cowie, one of the best sprinters in intercollegiate circles, has taken up football this year after a seven-year lapse and his fleet ball-toting has produced many long breakaway runs for the Tigers this fall. It is unlikely that there is a faster back carrying the ball on collegiate fields than Cowie who is also the captain of the Princeton track team.

The other speed merchant who has piled up considerable yardage for the Orange is sophomore George Sella. This talented newcomer is an outstanding pass receiver and has snared 12 passes from his wingback spot in five games this season for a total gain of 285 yards. Sella is the other end of the sensational passing-running combination which features Capt. West in the tossing role.

West is also a bruiser in his own right. The clever field general weighs 195 pounds and handles the passing chores with plenty of finesse. He has completed 20 spirals out of 40 attempts for a gain of 354 yards. Right behind West is Carl Siebert, formerly of St. Mary's University, who has connected with seven tosses out of 26.

For Harvard, the game will be one for which they are at their best physical condition in over a month. Kenary, Houston and Gorynski are all back in the fold and, while not completely up to par, will be a terrific boost to the Harlow players.

SPORT CELEBRITIES AT MILTON
The annual Holy Name Society fathers and sons "Sports Night" of St. Mary's of the Hills, Milton, under the direction of the Rev. Thomas Foley, will be held Monday night at the Milton Town Hall starting at 8 o'clock.
William Campbell, president of the Holy Name Society, and his committee, has arranged an outstanding program that includes a headline cast of sports celebrities and motion pictures of the World Series, Boston College-Louisiana State football game and the recent Holy Name convention parade.
